Book Seventeen – Profiles in Courage

Introduction

Saturday, July 24, 2021 2:31am

1. Welcome to the end, the end of what you have known and the beginning of what you have not known. This is called Profiles in Courage. For civilization to advance rapidly, it is imperative that you be introduced to your help mates and that you think of yourselves as part of a team. This is the end game team and you are physical representations of it.

2. What will deteriorate will fall away and what will fall away will fall out of view, never to be seen again. What will be strengthened is what remains.

3. Before the next harvest and the next freeze, there will be an evaluation. Aspects of creation that have not produced ample excess for harvest, will be marked for reassignment in other laboratory environments. They will disappear from view here.

4. By the time Winter arrives and this creative cycle ends, the great evaluation will have concluded. Profiles in Courage will introduce you to teams and individuals who will usher in the new age. They will conduct the evaluation and Christ will provide on-the-ground assistance.

5. This book shall remain sealed and not released to the public, as will all of the final seven books in the Journey into the Unknown series. The seal shall be broken at an appointed time.

6. Welcome to the endtime. May we introduce you to the seven beasts of the apocalypse?

End Time: 3:00am

Chapter 1 – Shape Shifters

Saturday, July 24, 2021 5:28pm

1. The apocalypse will befall mankind as predicted long ago. This will be the first, as it is the first one since humans have been on the planet. The apocalypse will precede the harvest and the freeze. Seven beasts will usher in the time of great turmoil. The first beast is the shape shifter.

2. Shape shifters will manifest on the earth. They will appear as one thing, and then instantly disappear and change into something else. Their real purpose is to reveal the first great truth, which is that nothing is as it seems. They will look human at times and will be able to use language with the locals. Upon leaving, they may turn not a never-before-seen type of animal form that can walk through walls and closed doors.

3. Those living in the House of Truth will welcome them. And after initial trepidation, will grow to understand their message. Those living in the House of fear will not perceive this type of beast as a friend. Many will try to shoot them or wage war against them, but these beasts will only deflect the bullets.

4. The term apocalypse in itself is a misnomer. It truly means ‘time to reconsider harsh stances’. It is a time to open up to truth, but the ego will not see it this way and will see it as a threat. It is this refusal to accept what is that will usher in the apocalypse, not the beasts themselves.

End Time: 5:46pm

Chapter 2 – The Questioners

Sunday, July 25, 2021 7:24pm

1. People naturally question things or at least they should. Some people discourage questioning in themselves and in their families and social circles. They fear what may happen. They have seen the results of questioning and they did not like what they saw. They blame the deterioration of social norms and traditional family structures on questioning.

2. The questioners we refer to here are not your average, run of the mill citizens. They belong to a higher order and will come here to stir things up. Again, our motives are always pure. We simply want to point things out so that regular Joes and Marys will reconsider their identities. If they can start to shift towards Divinity, then we can have more of an increase to turn in at the end of the day. The questioners will help us to do precisely this.

3. The questioners are the second beast. They will materialize here as fully mature adult humans. They will have ready made identities, bank accounts, jobs, homes, drivers' licenses, and cars. They will infiltrate the upper echelons of society, and will quickly be influencers or the power behind the throne. The questioners will cause chaos, and the chaos will affect every living man, woman, child, and those who prefer not to say.

4. Society has to crumble for something new and something true to take its place. The questioners will help bring this about.

End Time: 7:41pm

Chapter 3 – The Disrupters

Monday, July 26, 2021 9:06am

1. Just as the Questioners will appear on the world scene in order to cause chaos to break the spell humanity has been under since the get-go, the Disrupters will do more of the same; they will work to break the spell.

2. Many have wondered if these groups and individuals are already here. They are not. There is a difference between ego-driven power drives that are against love and freedom, and the mission that the beasts of the apocalypse will conduct.

3. The beasts will cause people to question fear in all of its guises. Ego-driven entities cause people to want to embrace fear and reject love. This is the major difference. Tell this to an average earth citizen and they will simply not be able to tell the difference though. It will be the Christs on the ground who have taken on instructional roles who will be able to help with understanding. Both things will happen at the same time. There will be autocratic dictatorships and beasts. It will be hard for the uninitiated to tell them apart.

4. Disrupters will primarily work to dismantle the financial system, which, like all human-made systems, is entirely drenched in fear. It is not now, nor has it ever been, a vehicle for unconditional love. All things not built on a foundation of love will and must crumble.

5. The Disrupters will manifest as adults of various ages. They will have legal identities and paperwork, finances, homes, and automobiles. They will work in all aspects of the financial word from lowly bank tellers to administrators of investment firms. They will work on Wall Street and will serve on boards of directors.

6. The Disrupters are the third beast of the apocalypse.

End Time: 9:28am

Chapter 4 – The Emergents

Monday, July 26, 2021 1:23pm

1. The fourth beast of the apocalypse is the Emergents. They are the ones who are just about to break free from their cocoons and discover what lies within. They look at everything to discover what it means. “What is the hidden content?” they wonder.

2. Like the Questioners, the fourth beast will innocently be misperceived and will invoke great fear. As they will be strictly human in form, they will incur the greatest wrath from others more securely in the confines of their cocoons.

3. Members of this order will become the non-conformists, the trouble makers, the ones who are un-friended and not invited to the party. They are unafraid to ask the question ‘why’, and will suffer the consequences. They will pay the price as attempts are made to get them back in line and under control.

4. Of all the beasts of the apocalypse, the Emergents are the ones who have the most to lose and everything to gain. They are just steps away from Christ awareness, Christ consciousness, and Christ manifestation. Once decisions are made to go down these paths, the end is certain.

5. The world and its representatives cannot reach those on the path to glory. Safety and protection are promised. In exchange, we ask nothing, only the embrace of the truth.

6. It is for this reason and this reason alone that the world will focus its attention on the Emergents, and do everything in its power to get them to reconsider leaving the restrictive confines of their human shells.

End Time: 1:45pm

Chapter 5 – The Visitors

Tuesday, July 27, 2021 9:37am

1. The fifth beast of the apocalypse is the Visitor. Long rumored to be true, dating back before the area in New Mexico had sightings, or even before Stonehenge in England first appeared. Before there were strange crop circles or mysterious flying objects in the sky, there have always been Visitors. During the time to come, all of these types of things will increase and will become commonplace. Up until now they have been rare, and the people involved have all seriously wondered if they had lost their minds. Other people who weren't having these experiences thought them to be too bizarre to be true. But when those who were having these experiences found each other and started to share stories, they realized that there was something to all of this. Others were seeing things and experiencing things too. The thought of "How can we be along in the Universe?" became an important theme with humans who were directly experiencing these things, and with those who were experiencing them second hand through stories. Even Hollywood fare has had the benefiting result of causing movie goers to be intrigued, and to wonder if this truly is all there is.

2. During the time period that will be known and perceived as 'The Apocalypse', not everyone will see, hear, or experience Visitors, but everyone will know someone who has. Those in form from other worlds, other realities, will have loosened restrictions. They won't have free reign, but they will be able to conduct their observations and experiments in a freer manner.

3. "Why?" you may ask. The reason why is because we want people to reconsider their harsh stances. This will be one of seven beasts that will surely get their attention.

End Time: 10:05am

Chapter 6 – The Exterminators

Tuesday, July 27, 2021 1:00pm

1. The sixth beast is the Exterminator. It will be the most unwelcome of them all. The Exterminator will come to reveal untruth and eliminate what creates it, which is false identification and belief.

2. The Exterminators will come in the form of disease of all types. It will afflict any and all who believe their inborn programming that tells them that they are lowly, human creatures. This simple and yet untrue belief is what the Exterminator will seek to destroy.

3. Replacement beliefs will flourish during the apocalypse. Once disease takes hold, all it will take will be a little loosening and a little questioning for the cocoons to start to crack. The sixth beast will offer afflicted members of humanity a hard lesson with a silver lining.

4. 'Reconsider your hard stance' is the dominant message during the apocalypse. We prefer to think of this prophesied time as a time of unprecedented gifts. The gifts await as the content underneath the ugly and unwanted packaging.

5. Once medical science starts to get a handle on one pandemic, another one will take its place. Each one will have higher stakes until the content is revealed and the lessons are learned.

6. None of this would have been necessary if humans had been willing to question and listen to voices that were not their own. So, it has to be the hard way, unfortunately.

End Time: 1:18pm

Chapter 7 – Wolves in Sheep's Clothing

Tuesday, July 27, 2021 7:16pm

1. The seventh and final beast during what will be perceived as the apocalypse, will be the Wolf in Sheep's Clothing. Not that things will need to be made any worse than they will be, but the Wolves will hit a home run.

2. Remember, the purpose of all of this is to startle humans and force them to wake up, when alarm clocks and buckets of water have failed to do the trick.

3. "Who and what are they?" you may ask. They are the fiercest of the beast, which is why they come last. The Wolves in Sheep's Clothing are priests and clergy of all stripes calling for the return to traditional values espoused in revered religious texts.

4. The hypocrisy of fear disguised as love that embraces militarism and authoritarianism will completely originate from man's ego, but ultimately will be used for our purposes; which is to rid the world of all types of fear, including but not limited to religious tyranny and control.

5. All of the secrets and lies that religion has been a part of will be laid bare. The Wolves in Sheep's Clothing will be the only beast that is genuinely ego but we will use it to our advantage.

6. This will be a case of 'buyer beware' because all of the good-hearted people who have faithfully given money in the real and virtual collection plates will be called to atone for what was done with this money, all in the supposed name of God or Allah or whomever they told you it was going to.

7. Even the beautiful stained glass will not be spared when these institutional walls come crashing down.

End Time: 7:41pm

Chapter 8 – The Role of Christ

Wednesday, July 28, 2021 9:35am

1. The prophesies in the Bible referring to the last days do not mean that the earth project is ending. They mean that the earth project is changing.

2. The earth itself is ready to support all life forms, who will in turn support it in all of its majesty. The days of raping and pillaging the earth's many benevolent resources are coming to a rapid end.

3. You don't have to look far to see examples of climate change, from extreme weather to drought to wildfires to global temperature warming. This has already had an effect on the food supply chain and food prices, which in turn will have a direct effect on everyday life for everyone from the very rich to the very poor.

4. The earth is changing its vibration because it must if it is to survive its bad marriage to mankind. On the new and improved earth, mankind will care for the earth as if it was a member of the human family. Most people would not treat members of their own families in the horrifyingly destructive way that the earth has been treated.

5. In turn, the earth will support its new and equal partner, not its master any longer.

6. Individual Christs will do what they can to leave a smaller carbon footprint and live a more environmentally friendly lifestyle where reduce, reuse, and recycle themes are paramount.

7. In summary, the earth's dramatic changes and shifts will be part of the play of the 'last days as we knew them'. Christ will hold its own energy, slow and steady, creating the House of Truth which will be in Cooperation with the Earth, not in Competition with it.

End Time: 9:59am

Chapter 9 – The Purpose of the House of Truth

Wednesday, July 28, 2021 1:00pm

1. It's simple really. A house is built and then other houses are built. A neighborhood is formed. Other houses are built and other neighborhoods are formed. Before long, there is a town with its own businesses, parks, and schools.

2. Instead of having a list of don'ts, there will only be a very short list of do's, which is to love unconditionally and to do no harm. These will be taught to children as soon as they can understand. Life will cease to be confusing and will instead be comforting and embracing.

3. Freedom will be paramount in the House of Truth and will be the one treasured possession. Freedom, true freedom from any kind of fear and control is why we came here. It allows us to explore indiscriminately through the lens of love, which is what we really are.

4. Unlike living in the House of Illusion, living in the House of Truth only requires living as the true, great divine spirit, not an empty shell.

5. God herself will live in the House of Truth and will be known by many different names, all aspects of the OneSelf.

6. Cooperation and the cooperative spirit is how the House of Truth will set itself apart from the House of Illusion. God does not compete with itself in order to win at silly games or at all costs.

7. The House of Truth will thrive during the perceived apocalypse. While one world falls apart, another one will rise to take its place.

End Time: 1:19pm

Chapter 10 – The Beginning of the End

Wednesday, July 28, 2021 7:30pm

1. And as it is being written, all of these things shall come to pass, not one by one but all at the same time. It will be quite unpleasant for the uninitiated, but will last for an individual soul only as long as it takes for their own questioning to start. Once that begins, they will be saved from further torment, but only because they were wise enough to save themselves.

2. We don't intend to frighten anyone. That isn't our purpose at all. Our only purpose is to get mankind to re-evaluate so that all aspects of the earth project can re-align with the Divine Source of All. We want the earth to reflect us truly and it does not now nor has it ever.

3. The New Earth will be a thing of beauty, not a thing of monstrous dichotomy.

4. How long with the beginning of the end last? It depends on how much cooperation we get. With the Christ team on the ground and all seven beasts in place, along with a thriving House of Truth beckoning for those living in fear to enter, it should be a fairly quick 2–5-year process. Of course, these are humans we are talking about, so this timeframe could very likely be lengthened.

5. The House of Illusion has one thing going for it, one very formidable thing, which is the Shadow. The Shadow is what fuels illusion. The Shadow is everyone's unwanted and unwelcome companion.

End Time: 7:50pm

Chapter 11 – The Shadow Knows

Thursday, July 29, 2021 9:56am

1. Let us define the Shadow as a collection of fear, an immovable obstacle. Fear was created as a choice in order to strengthen its opposite. It was just designed as a signpost that says "Turn back! Nothing to see here!" This is why the Shadow is included in this book called 'Profiles in Courage'. Its intent is truly to repel like a strong magnet, and it actually does this at least some of the time.

2. As you know. The Shadow does not always repel. It often attracts. This is due to a programming glitch and we will save that for another day. The Shadow's primary purpose and intent is to strengthen love.

3. In order to water this topic down, let's just focus on what the Shadow is for in the context of what will be perceived as the apocalypse. All fearful projections, whether they are thoughts, actions, or solidified form, will attach themselves to the Shadow, causing it to grow to monstrous proportions. If not for the Christ brigade on the ground, this could and probably would become insurmountable.

4. Imagine yourself as an average citizen during 'the last days of the same' and there are seven beasts causing every conceivable type of havoc. The Shadow of fear, with the help of the Christs on the ground, can show those who are fearful that they are simply reacting to things that are reactions to things that are reactions. The Christs will help point the way in the direction of truth, and either people will open their eyes to see it or they will suffer like they never have before.

End Time: 10:15am

Chapter 12 – Putting it All Together

Thursday, July 29, 2021 1:03pm

1. We should have called this book 'Ending the Nonsense' because so much of what passes for normal, everyday life on earth is complete and total nonsense, but 'Profiles in Courage' sounded more dignified. The seven beasts will have to be courageous. They all have the same intent, which is to cause people to question. Everyday citizens will have to be courageous as well. It won't be a comfortable time, by any stretch of the imagination, but it will be absolutely necessary to make the human experiment a Divine reality.

End Time: 1:10pm

Chapter 13 – Friends in High Places

Thursday, July 29, 2021 7:05pm

1. The reclaiming of the earth will be an all-hands-on-deck event whereas the earth project as a whole has been largely a hands-off event. We let the chips fall where they may at our own detriment. Hindsight is 20-20. Maybe more intense intervention earlier on would have been better in some ways. We certainly underestimated the strength of what they think of themselves as 'the opposition'.

2. This brings us to this place and time where we are actively reclaiming what is rightfully ours from all of these self-identified supporters and friends of the Shadow.

3. In addition to the seven beasts, climate change, and on-the-ground Christ communities setting up the House of Truth, there will be even more assistance coming from communities across all of God and across all of the God Heads.

4. May we introduce you to the Malichi?

End Time: 7:17pm

Chapter 14 – The Malachi

Friday, July 20, 2021 9:49am

1. The Malachi were the first extensions of the Godheads. They exist to create, and they create across milieu. They number in the thousands and as with all firsts in form, they began life as a prototype. They are also known as 'Super Souls' because of the intensity and amount of source energy that each of them has.

2. This was the first and last time that the original I Am energy created prototypes. All other prototypes came from the Malichi directly. The first creations were archangels which then produced angels, of which there are an infinite number. Angels are the worker bees behind the scenes.

3. Humanoid types of figures were created as prototypes all across creation and then reproduced sexually. They followed scripts of pre-programmed base level, animal instinct. This is another truth across creation, across Godheads. Each world has a team of Malichi members who are in charge of a particular reality. There is not enough paper in the entire worldscape to print out all of the identifiers of the members of these teams. Likewise, there is not enough computer memory on all computers combined to record this information.

4. For simplicity's sake, let's just talk about the earth project and its team. We will start at the top. Remember that most aspects of God are nameless, but they may be called by a job description or a most recent or especially notable incarnation.

5. There are three figureheads over the earth project. We will call them figureheads 1, 2, and 3. Figurehead 1 is Rami. Rami will speak for himself in the next chapter.

End Time: 10:09am

Chapter 15 – Figurehead 1: Rami (the Invisible)

Friday, July 30, 2021 1:13pm

1. I don't predate time because time itself predates all of creation, but I was born directly after time began. I Am known as Rami (the Invisible) and I Am Figurehead 1 in the I Am hierarchy for the earth project. I was created as a prototype and then quickly became a creator myself. I Am a super soul who is a member of the super soul collective. I can appear and disappear without a trace. Some of you may have seen me and thought I was just an average citizen at times or just another 'weirdo' at other times. Not everyone you encounter is exactly real. Not everyone has a past, a birth, parents, and what have you. Some of us just like to show up unannounced, out of the blue you might say. 'Now you see me, now you don't' is my credo.

2. There is purpose in my appearances and in my disappearances. I like to meet my offspring, without them knowing who I Am or what I Am doing, of course.

3. During the perceived apocalypse, I will be around more than usual. I will be hanging around our Christ pioneers to help with building our utopian Kingdom of God, so be on the lookout. I could be standing right next to you.

End Time: 1:30pm

Chapter 16 – Figurehead 2: Asha

Friday, July 30, 2021 7:19pm

1. I Am Rami's mirror image in triplicate. I Am Asha, also known as Figurehead 2. Along with Figurehead 3, we created all of the archangels plus the second generation super souls. These included those who incarnated as Buddha, Mohammed, and Jesus. They in turn created new prototypes and new offspring and most importantly came to the earth to provide living examples of truth in a confused and confusing landscape, where no one knows what truth is.

2. My specialty is animal life and form and since our main topic is the perceived apocalypse, I can say that our dear animal companions will feel the human fear from all of the 'end time as we know it' actors. They have not flourished as they were designed to, due to human overpopulation and industrialization. Even for animals, the earth project has been a hard assignment.

3. Our hope is that animals that humans keep as pets will help to soften the blow of the hard times ahead and remind people to stay present and not let the shadow get the best of them.

4. I too pop in and out on earth. It's exceedingly easy for us to create fully developed and fully functioning bodies and just appear. There are even videos of sidewalks where there is no one and then someone strangely appears out of nowhere. That's us: Rami, Asha, and Figurehead 3 whom you will meet next.

5. Life is far stranger than any of you imagine.

End Time: 7:42pm

Chapter 17 – Figurehead 3

Saturday, July 31, 2021 6:31am

1. I'm the better looking of the three of us, although the other two would beg to differ. I Am Figurehead 3. Other than being especially good looking, I don't go by any other names or identifiers. Plant life is my specialty. There's a lot than can be said about the human side of life on earth and a lot of it certainly isn't pretty, but the planet is one of the most lush and beautiful ones in all of the multiverse. This is a point of pride.

2. Of course, my brothers would say that plants are an easier assignment, and they would be right. They don't talk back but, spoiler alert, we are headed in that direction after we get humans sorted out and repair their dysfunctional relationships with their environment and with each other.

3. During the time that is to transpire: 'the end of days as we knew them' and the havoc that will ensue, many plant species will leave the earth. This will either be due to their own choice (made from the group soul level), through drought, pestilence, or disease. Some areas of the world have been raped of its natural resources and will not recover until mankind has recovered. Like a recovering drug addict or alcoholic, man's addiction to abusing the earth, in order to profit financially, has to be healed first. Then everything else will be free to come back to life.

4. I like to see people keep gardens and plants inside their homes. These are examples of good relationships between the plant world and the human world. We need much more of these types of relationships and we will have them on the new earth.

End Time: 6:53am

Chapter 18 – In Conclusion

Saturday, July 31, 2021 4:06pm

1. Going back to the title, all of the elements of the earth's 'Show to End all Shows' are personified examples of courage, wanting to bring out the same in the earth dwellers. We know it will scare them. We know it will terrify them, but at some point we hope that it causes them to say, "Hey, wait a minute! Something else is going on here. The haunted house isn't what it seems. The guy with the axe and the other one with the chainsaw don't seem quite real."

2. When this type of questioning happens, we can create openings for truth to seep in at first and then eventually pour in. There is method to our madness.

3. These are Profiles in Courage.

4. The Malichi

End Time: 4:17pm

Book Eighteen – The Alarm Has Sounded

Declaration

Monday, August 2, 2021 1:08pm

1. The Federation of all aspects of creation makes this declaration in reclaiming what is ours to reclaim. We are taking the earth project back from those whose own shadows would hold it as their own. The earth project belongs to all who let love be their guide. Those who don't will simply disappear from view and be reassigned.

2. The Federation is comprised of leadership teams among the Super Soul Malichis, the second-generation super souls, Christs on the ground, and their spirit guides.

3. We hereby declare the earth as our own. This declaration shall be sealed until the appointed time when the seal shall be broken.

4. 'The Alarm Has Sounded' is an action plan for what life will look and feel like during the perceived apocalypse, when the seven beasts are in play. It is a ten-year plan.

5. Each year will have a general outline, and each will build upon the last.

6. Let us begin.

7. The Federation

End Time: 1:28pm

Year One

Monday, August 2, 2021 7:53pm

1. While the noose is being tightened, while the call to see things outside of the programming becomes a high decibel scream, year one will begin with the shape shifters making their presence known. Videos proving their existence will appear on the nightly news. Taken from building security cameras and doorbell cameras, footage will be shown on social media and the nightly news. Everyone will agree with the question, “What is going on here?”

2. The financial sector will be taken over in year one by our volunteers, and chaos will ensue. The banking industry and the stock markets will all be reduced to nothingness. An increasingly cashless world will be caught unaware as cash becomes king again and plastic or virtual banking becomes worthless.

3. The earth will retract as global warming becomes more intense. Water will become more scarce and fire will become more plentiful. More and more people will be forced to live outdoors as the cost of housing becomes prohibitive.

4. Even the rich will feel the effects of year one when there is less food at higher and higher prices.

5. This is the beginning of the end of madness.

End Time: 8:12pm

Year Two

Tuesday, August 3, 2021 7:02pm

1. Everything that happened in year one will continue to happen in year two, but the intensity will be increased. Another beast will raise its head. This one will be the questioners. They will irritate the conformists who will be in lock step with the authoritarian regimes all over the world. Many of them may face fines, imprisonment, or worse, simply by speaking out.

2. Another beast will be the muscle behind authoritarian figures, and these will be the wolves in sheep's clothing. Irrational, fear-based religion will promote authoritarian policies and claim that they represent the one true God. The wolves will truly believe their own words, but they will be so outlandish that we are hoping that they will repel more people than they attract. It will be like a circus of horrors at a carnival. More people will refuse to go in than the ones in line.

3. Environmental catastrophes of all types will intensify during year two, as will disease and quality of life issues. As more and more housing becomes unaffordable, more people will be forced to live on the street and steal from stores to meet their basic needs. Society will break down.

4. While all of this is happening, something positive will transpire. The House of Truth will move from being a loose configuration of those who know the truth about their identities and the purpose of the world, to an actual, functioning network between space and time.

End Time: 7:20pm

Year Three

Wednesday, August 4, 2021 9:24am

1. Year three and year two will be indistinguishable from one another with one exception. The House of Truth will begin to emerge as physical enclaves of those living the ideals of Christ in the reality of the world of form, specifically this one, the earth project.

2. Small utopian societies simply based on love and freedom of expression will begin to appear across the world. Individual Christs will not have to go anywhere to make this happen. They will attract like-minded souls and repel souls who are not like-minded, creating space for community.

3. A few distanced homes here and there will turn into neighborhoods and entire communities dedicated to love. It will be the foundation for business, for schools, and for conflict resolution.

4. Those living in these types of radically different communities will still have to obey the laws of the larger society in the House of Illusion, whether those be traffic and parking laws or any other type of law, at least for the time being.

5. Eventually, after the perceived apocalypse, all man-made laws will cease to exist. We will simply declare them dead and gone. Following love, following our true nature, is all that we will need.

End Time: 9:45am

Year Four

Wednesday, August 4, 2021 1:10pm

1. As the ashes lay all known things to ruin, new things will be able to rise in their place, and these things will reflect love, not love's shadow. We cannot have a new landscape until the old mess of one has been cleared away.

2. One of the most important reasons why the world is the way it is, is because of a relatively small group of extremely wealthy and powerful elites who actually manipulate and control the masses. We have to end their reign of terror. We have a select group of souls who will materialize as fully qualified male and female adults of all races with fabricated backgrounds. They will infiltrate the biggest companies and political establishments, as well as mainstream and partisan media conglomerates. To do what, exactly? To cause havoc, that's why.

3. Business as usual has to go and those who benefit from it must be revealed. The truth has to come out in all things from the top down.

4. We know some of you are wondering if this has already happened in the case of a wealthy businessman who became a U.S. President and caused a great deal of havoc and turmoil. The answer is no. He clearly benefited from it and enjoyed the notoriety this brought him. This is the difference, because those who will be helping with our 'end game' plan will not be ego driven. They will help reveal ego in order to defeat it which is the big difference. In the presidential case, he did not want to defeat ego, he sought to increase it.

End Time: 1:30pm

Year Five

Wednesday, August 4, 2021 7:18pm

1. Two to five years is our optimum timeline for the ‘end of days as we knew them’. Realistically though, we may need to keep the pressure on for another five years. During year five of a ten-year plan, we want information about the House of Truth to seep out. This information, coupled with all of the negative things happening in the ‘normal’ world, will surely help the undecided to change their minds and switch teams.

2. The House of Truth will have its own living and breathing word, A Journey into the Unknown, a new type of Bible. Those on the Christed path will be prepared with a wide variety of resources to help seekers to discover their true identity.

3. Year five will be a turning point where the spotlight will be focused on people living such extraordinary lives. They will make people ask the question, “What do they have that I don’t?”

End Time: 7:32pm

Year Six

Thursday, August 5, 2021 9:48am

1. The restrictions that have always been in place in regard to visitations to the earth, either with or without spacecraft, will be lessened in year one. By year six, sightings and experiences will be commonplace. The knowledge that mankind and all other types of life on the earth are not the only life forms in this universe, or in any universe, will be as common as bread and butter.

2. By year six, purposeful and meaningful communication between visitors of all types and humans will increase. Visitors will be interviewed by the media, meet with heads of state, and meet with unsuspecting individual citizens. The messages will all support the messaging from the Federation, which is exclusively about love, cooperation, and the promotion and support of true identity.

3. It will be the visitors who will bring the attention of the masses to the growing and flourishing House of Truth. They will introduce A Journey into the Unknown to the entire earth.

4. Life in the House of Illusion will be quite unpleasant, and the visitors will be the only thing that truly captivates the earth audience. Everything will change. And the earth citizenry have chosen the hard way.

End Time: 10:06am

Year Seven

Thursday, August 5, 2021 7:29pm

1. The House of Illusion will be on fire at this point, but the House of Truth will be a thriving metropolis – a connected group of communities across the globe, without leaders, without dogma, and without fear. They won't be sovereign nations per se, just groups of law-abiding citizens who all practice Christ awareness, Christ consciousness, and Christ manifestation. They will teach the new way to children, who will already be predisposed to this way of being and will be eager to dive in.

2. By year seven, there will be small businesses of all types in these communities who will serve through love, reaping the benefits and rewards. Some community members will still keep their employment in the world but will return home to bliss at the end of the day.

3. New types of schools for both children and adults will have their genesis in the House of Truth. All learning will support the new shared identity as deity. And for the first time the past will be seen for what it truly is – clunky first steps, nothing more and nothing less.

4. The social problems that have plagued mankind and have multiplied in modern times will not exist in the House of Truth. There will be no income inequality. Everyone's work will be valued equally. There will be no homelessness, no drug or alcohol abuse, no mental illness, and no conflict which always stems from competition. Cooperation will be the name of the game.

5. The biggest problem in the illusionary world is 'us vs. them'. How can this exist in the new world where there is only us?

End Time: 7:49pm

Year Eight

Friday, August 6, 2021 9:28am

1. Warfare due to political strife, and the oppression of opinions other than the official party line, will be commonplace during the 'end of days as we knew it'. Food scarcity and homelessness will mar the land. Natural disasters will be commonplace, and disease for which there is no cure, will define these times. Entertainment of all types will cease to be entertaining. There will be no escape. Humans must change or they simply cannot be here anymore. The population worldwide will decrease as deaths will far surpass births.

2. This is year eight.

End Time: 9:37am

Year Nine

Friday, August 6, 2021 1:17pm

1. By year nine, the House of Truth will have to become more independent and sustainable. The goods and services they relied on from the outside world will become harder to come by, because all supply chains will become not only disrupted but destroyed. The few things that are left and available will only be available to those who are willing to part ways with exorbitantly large amounts of cash, much more than the items were worth before our intervention began.

2. This said, those living the Christed life in the House of Truth will have to be resourceful pioneers when gathering needed supplies, and they will, to make do with less. They will share what they have and use their creativity to make jobs and their own form of currency.

3. We expect things in the world to be quite bleak by year nine. There will be widespread power outages and the resources to make traditional types of fuel like oil and gas will cease to exist.

4. The House of Truth will be rebuilding a new world within a collapsed old world. It must embrace simplicity because the simplicity of this way of life is something that will always be. The truth is simple and never changes, so it makes perfect sense that life in form based on truth must reflect this truth. This is primarily how different love is from fear. Love is simple and fear is complicated.

End Time: 1:35pm

Year Ten

Friday, August 6, 2021 6:40pm

1. The House of Truth will not be a primitive community without running water or electricity. It will not be a relic from the past. The main reason for this is because of union, the connection of the mortal with the divine, the physical world with the spiritual world, the created with the creator.

2. The veil that separated the world of form from the formless world will not exist any longer. This will enable the inhabitants of the House of Truth to interact freely with their cocreators and, for the very first time, prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that there is no separation.

3. The House of Truth will expand during year ten. It will break down borders. It will occupy empty lands. Those living the Christed life will be in full partnership with one another and with those in the spirit realm.

4. By year ten our plan will be in full fruition. The House of Illusion will be no more, and the House of Truth will be the only reality on the earth. With each passing day, the House of Truth will grow stronger and stronger and will have only one guiding principle, which is to love others as yourself.

End Time: 6:54pm

In Conclusion

Friday, August 6, 2021 6:57pm

1. It has to be this way, unfortunately. Everyone will be informed of their options and will have to make a choice. They will be forced to make a decision. Either they demonstrate willingness to transform, to break free of their ideas and the confines of their bodies, or they will be reassigned. The House of Truth will beckon for everyone to enter, and the only cost is a little willingness. The earth will no longer be the playground for fear and all of its byproducts.

2. Let it be so.

3. The Federation

Book Nineteen – Water Under the Bridge

Acts of Forgiveness

As written by All Souls who have Incarnated on Earth

Saturday, August 7, 2021 7:28am

1. I forgive myself for not understanding, and for acting and believing from that place. My true Self is innocent. I have been released and I Am free.

2. I forgive those who have made my path harder, not to strengthen me but to impede my growth.

3. I forgive all of the mistakes and imperfections in my life. The masterpiece I have become required each and every one of them.

4. I forgive myself for excluding others and I forgive others for excluding me.

5. I forgive the world for its cruelty, and I forgive myself for adding to it.

6. I forgive myself for looking the other way out of fear.

7. I forgive myself for all of my mistakes and errors in judgement.

8. I forgive the world for all of its misgivings.

9. I forgive everything for not being what it seems.

10. I forgive the random nature of cruelty.

11. I forgive all of the times when life did not give me what I wanted.

12. I forgive myself for wanting what I cannot have.

13. I forgive all of the lies and misunderstandings from myself and from others.

14. I forgive the betrayal and the turning away by former friends.

15. I forgive the icy glares from strangers and friends alike.

16. I forgive those who had more and those who had less.

17. I forgive the indiscretions from myself and from others.

18. I forgive times when I was verbally or physically abusive, and I forgive others for the harm they have done to me and to others.

19. I forgive both intentional and unintentional acts of deception.

20. I forgive those who have not seen me for who I am in all of my beauty.

21. I forgive the very wealthy for benefiting from the systems that allowed money and power to be in their control.

22. I forgive those who make judgements based on appearances.

23. I forgive those who take advantage of others for their own gain.

24. I forgive myself and everyone who is here now, or who has ever been here, for all the things, all mistakes, and all misperceptions. I release all from my judgements. We are free.

63. Does life continue after I die?
64. Is there such a thing as death?
65. Will I be with my loved ones when I leave the earth?
66. What happens to people who have intentionally caused harm here?
67. What role does forgiveness play on the earth?
68. How can I stop living in the past?
69. How can I stop living in the future?
70. Where do I end and someone else begins?
71. Is the space between objects real?
72. Is there really separation between me and someone else?
73. Am I separate from God?
74. Can anything I think or do separate me from God?
75. Can I have the power of God at some point?
76. Is there oneness in the many?
77. Does God have a dark side?

78. Does God engage in experimentation in order to produce results?

79. Can God protect you from yourself?

80. Are some things so bad that they are unforgiveable?

81. Is there really such a thing as sin?

82. Does God judge itself?

83. Are humans part of the flow or part of the resistance?

84. What is I Am energy?

85. Am I part of God?

86. These questions are meant to provoke vigorous discussion within oneself and in community. The Emergents are brave enough to start to ask these questions. As for the answers, each soul will discover those along the path of awakening. Christ awareness leads to Christ consciousness, which then leads to Christ manifestation. More and more questions will be answered along this sacred path, and more questions will be asked over time, and more answers will be discovered over time. It is a never-ending journey into the unknown. Once the unknown becomes known, there will be more of the unknown to be discovered. Such is the way of Christ.

Book Twenty-One – Tears of Christ

Lamentations

Saturday, August 14, 2021 12:56pm

1. We, the members of Christ, the Christ collective, aspects of God in form, bid farewell to the following events and activities which will no longer have a home on the new earth. It is with pleasure and great joy that we release hate, anger, aggression, oppression, and competition in all of its forms. They do not have a place here any longer. We bid them farewell.
2. It is this prayer that seals their fate. They will be banished from the earth at the conclusion of the final ten years of the old way, the death of what was and the birth of what is to be.
3. Glory be.

End Time: 1:05pm

Book Twenty-Two – Cameos of Truth

Introduction

Sunday, August 15, 2021 12:08pm

1. The truth has had many faces over time. The oneness has worn many costumes. It has been naked. It has worn rags and it has worn regal robes and jeweled crowns. This book will introduce you to aspects of God who specifically came here to advance the narrative and bring things happening on the surface closer to truth, closer to love.

2. May we introduce ten souls from ancient and modern times, who came to do just that?

3. Cadre of Souls

End Time: 12:15pm

The First Soul: Time

Monday, August 16, 2021 1:06pm

1. I Am naked. You cannot see me. I was the first creation as I was necessary for all subsequent creations that would entail development over a time period or time periods.

2. I have many different forms to support growth in many starkly different environments. Some times are very, very slow and some are twice as fast as others. I control all time through the creation and usage of devices. An example would be the earth's rotations and circular journeys around the sun, which dictate night and day as well as seasons of the year.

3. Time is my soul's purpose and yet I Am not time. I Am without definition as are all of God's aspects. We all have specific tasks. Creating and monitoring time is my task and purpose.

4. All time structures, including the very slow time outside of time, are self-sustaining once created. I Am frequently called upon to create new time structures for new projects. As with all of creation, creating is what brings us joy, and creating/maintaining time structures brings me great joy.

5. I Am pleased to make your acquaintance. This is the first time that I have communicated directly with creations on a job site or project, creations who are learning to be creators themselves.

6. Welcome to the family.

End Time: 1:28pm

The Second Soul: Air

Tuesday, August 17, 2021 1:40pm

1. I Am the second soul and I manifest as air. All forms on the surface breathe me in and breathe me out, in and out, in and out, and on and on and on and on, effortlessly in healthy form, and with great and strained effort in unhealthy form.

2. I enable the singer to sustain the one note crescendo and the runner to keep going one more step. I create the relationship between the plants and animals, between plants and humans. I Am pure and pristine, or I am polluted and toxic. I carry the sweet smell of a coming rain or the smoke from a raging forest fire.

3. You cannot see me and yet I Am there. I Am a different part of you, and you are a different part of me. I join the seen with the unseen. We are one within the multiplicity of life.

4. I Am the second soul, air.

End Time: 1:52pm

The Third Soul: Water

Wednesday, August 18, 2021 1:02pm

1. I Am the third soul. I manifest as water. I both nourish life's many forms and provide a home to plants and animals who live inside the depths of ocean waters and rivers. I fall as rain and collect in ponds and creek beds. I nourish every plant. Without me, even a desert cactus will face certain death eventually.

2. I nourish all animal forms. A drink of me with satiate the most savage of beasts. I provide the basic ingredient for expensive coffee drinks like lattes or alcoholic drinks like beer. I am bottled and sold at high prices. I can be a status symbol.

3. I can be contaminated due to the pollution from mankind, and I can be undrinkable from toxic metals and pollution of all types.

4. I can be delivered to homes through pipes, or I can be carried in by containers of all sorts. I nourish skins of humans and carry away the day's sweat, dirt, and grime.

5. I Am valued and appreciated but never thanked. I Am not seen for the powerful magician that I Am. I Am taken advantage of. I Am used. I fuel everything. Without me there would be noting. I Am the great animator. Without me there would only be death.

6. I Am the third soul. I Am water.

End Time: 1:20pm

The Fourth Soul: Matter

Thursday, August 19, 2021 1:09pm

1. I Am the fourth soul and I manifest as matter. As will all of the souls in this book, we are both super souls and we are group souls. We each have a great deal of responsibility both here and in many other realms.

2. I Am the building blocks of matter, and I Am all that you see. I Am all of the materials that make up a car and I Am the bark and leaves on a tree. I Am in relationship with other souls that may give life to an organism. We all work together.

3. You have a soul that activates your body, which is made up of matter. If you have read this far, then you know that you are a soul. You are not matter or thought, although matter itself is manifested by me. I Am the super soul who manifests all matter.

4. We all work together in the worlds of form. It is difficult to draw a line and say that this part is me and that that part is you. It is truly a technicality because in actuality, we are one.

5. I Am the fourth soul. I Am matter.

End Time: 1:22pm

The Fifth Soul: Fire

Thursday, August 19, 2021 7:08pm

1. I Am the fifth soul. I Am fire. I manifest as suns of various sizes and varying intensities. I Am the flame at the end of a match or a cigarette lighter. I Am the bonfire at a college homecoming party. I Am the gas that heats your home and your water heaters! I Am the heat in the red-hot lava from a volcanic eruption.

2. I can perform a myriad of useful and life sustaining and affirming tasks. I can also destroy life forms. I can destroy grasslands or forests. I have burned homes and automobiles beyond recognition. I have burned skin and caused mild to severe sunburn or destroyed skin tissue altogether through direct contact.

3. I have the power to support life or destroy it, always making room for new form as life cannot be destroyed, only altered in positive or negative ways.

4. There is always purpose in my being. I always support and promote the big picture. I teach lessons about attachment and about responsibility. There are times when the careless summon me and let me destroy, due to their own carelessness. There are many other times when I will not rise up. My lessons may not be called for.

5. When I speak, I Am heard and listened to. The next time you see or hear about a fire of any type, know that it is me, a part of you. I Am the fifth soul. I Am fire.

End Time: 7:29pm

The Sixth Soul: The Personification of God as the Divine Feminine

Friday, August 20, 2021 11:20am

1. I Am the sixth soul. I manifest as the personification of God as the Divine Feminine. I Am the part of God who manifests in all of creation, from the ego level to the spiritual level, as the complementary partner to mind-based masculine energy.

2. I Am not only in female forms. I Am in all form, and I give birth to all form. I may be ignored but I Am in all, without question. I Am in plants, animals, and human-type form. I Am the heart of a soul. I Am the intuition, the inner knowing. I Am the connection to all. I Am the pathway to God, who is not found through the thinking mind.

3. I am part of each super soul and each micro-droplet soul. I Am part of group souls and individualized souls. I cannot be separated from any of them, and they cannot be separated from me.

4. I Am the great, knowing Mother of All. I Am the sixth soul, the personification of God as the Divine Feminine.

End Time: 11:35am

The Seventh Soul: The Personification of God as the Divine Masculine

Friday, August 20, 2021 12:59pm

1. I Am the seventh soul. I Am the Divine Masculine, in principle and in deed. I Am the curiosity. I Am the seeker. I Am the wanderer. I tinker with things to improve them and make them better. I Am the protector, the wise sage.

2. I join with my other half, my complementary soul. Together we offer a winning combination. By ourselves we are weakened without wholeness.

3. I can be dangerous if not guided by love. I have been the cause of great harm when manifested as brute strength, as the will to conquer and to take at all costs. If driven by competition and fear, I have been responsible for stopping the growth of souls through death and carnage of all types.

4. I must be harnessed by the reins of the Divine Feminine if I Am to be mastered, and if I Am to master myself.

5. Like the Divine Feminine, I Am in all, not only in masculine form but in all form. I Am part of the solution but not by myself. I do not possess the wisdom to guide alone with fear. The results have been and will continue to be catastrophic.

6. I Am the seventh soul, the personification of God as the Divine Masculine. I look forward to a better day through collaboration with less potent energies.

End Time: 1:20pm

The Eighth Soul: Super Soul – Mother of Life

Friday, August 20, 2021 7:10pm

1. I Am the eighth soul. I Am a super soul. I Am the Mother of Life. I have manifested on the earth and in other realms. My purpose is to give life and to love and nurture it, bringing it full circle to where it can take my place.

2. I have been known by many names. I join with those of the masculine persuasion to create a web of life that supports either way of being and unlimited combinations of feminine and masculine.

3. I watch over my flowers and watch them bloom. When they are ready, they can form a super soul and be the new Mother of Life, while I journey on to find fertile ground elsewhere.

4. I Am the eighth soul, a super soul and the Mother of Life.

End Time: 7:25pm

The Ninth Soul: The Governess of Natural Law

Saturday, August 21, 2021 9:28am

1. I Am the ninth soul, the Governess of Natural Law. I created natural laws of all types and I oversee their implementation. Gravity, sound waves, and climate temperature are within my purview. It has been said that I run the pet store and that would be true to an extent.

2. I Am first and foremost a scientist. I monitor conditions on the earth and many other pseudo-realities. I observe man's use of fossil fuels and the resulting release of greenhouse gases. My team and I have staved off widespread disaster, but we cannot intervene any longer. The chips will continue to fall as they may. Global warming is Gaia's natural reaction to abuse. Pollution in all of its forms and overuse of resources due to overpopulation have and will continue to take its toll on the environment. Yes, that environment, the same one that supports life, the same one that supports you.

3. There has not been much choice in the human economy for average, everyday consumers who have been forced to buy into ideas that resulted in damage to the shared, life-sustaining environment.

4. My role is expected to gain traction when the House of Truth is firmly established, and mankind returns to respecting natural laws and the environment. They will not purposely, for profit, take what is not theirs to take.

5. I Am the ninth soul, the Governess of Natural Law.

End Time: 9:51am

The Tenth Soul: The Heart and Mind of God

Saturday, August 21, 2021 2:58pm

1. I Am the tenth soul, the Heart and Mind of God. I Am inside each and every soul. I Am quality control. I Am the guarantee of the highest standards. I Am the giver and receiver of information. I Am the cross checker. I Am the link that connects the dots. I provide correction. I Am the magical link that connects each and every soul, each and every soul type. I Am the mothership.

2. I Am the tenth soul, the Heart and Mind of God.

End Time: 3:09pm

Conclusion

Saturday, August 21, 2021 3:11pm

1. Now you know. Now you finally know. Now you can never not know the spectacular truth for all to behold. God is literally everywhere and since you are part of God, you are literally everywhere too.

2. The Cadre of Souls

End Time: 3:13pm

Book Twenty-Three – The Ending is the Beginning

Chapter One

Tuesday, August 24, 2021 9:11am

1. Have you ever wondered how you got here? Then this book is for you. Human life is so complex and confusing. Let's break it all down so that we can have a greater understanding of it.

2. Let's look at your family life, your social life, the lives of friends, and the lives of enemies. Let's cut through the exterior to gain meaning and to obtain understanding.

3. Let's go back before you can remember. Let's go back to your birth.

End Time: 9:19am

Chapter Two

Tuesday, August 24, 2021 1:00pm

1. Even if the circumstances of your birth were accidental, you being here was not an accident. You planned it. You planned your earth experience along with your mother, father, grandparents, siblings, and larger family unit. You all planned your individual and collective incarnations before you came here, before you were 'you', the person I'm talking to now. You each planned your experiences when you weren't here on the earth. You were somewhere else, not somewhere far away but somewhere as close as your nose, another place that is part of this place, a part you can't see or perceive with your senses.

2. If you were born to a single mother or if any of the above-mentioned family members were missing, that was probably planned too. Not everything here is planned though. In fact, much of it isn't. You may have been born into a family where there were certain likelihoods that ingredients be present or absent. Likelihoods are part of your earth experience too and they help ensure that your experience would meet the objectives that were set out.

3. Income level of an earth family and location where you were to be born and raised, plays an important role in fulfilling objectives. The objectives are always two-fold. There is a surface objective and there is a deeper, hidden objective.

End Time: 1:19pm

Chapter Three

Tuesday, August 24, 2021 7:04pm

1. There is a purpose in all of creation, including life on earth and specifically your life. You have probably never truly known what your lifetime objectives are. Part of the fun of life is not knowing why you are here. You can try this and try that. You can say “I am this kind of a person” or “I am against that kind of person”. How you identify can change many times through the course of your lifetime. When you were a teenager, your surface identity may have changed several times in a single year. You may have dressed as a fan of certain types of musicians at the beginning of the year and then morphed into a fan of the first group’s sworn adversaries by the end of the semester.

2. There are so many ways that people of all ages identify themselves. It would be impossible to list them all but the important thing to realize is that all surface identity is just that. It is surface identity only and nothing more. It only means that you like certain things and maybe don’t like certain other things. It doesn’t have anything to do with your life’s purpose although they can point the way, but only if you’re paying close attention.

End Time: 7:20pm

Chapter Four

Wednesday, August 25, 2021 10:12am

1. When you were born, you were dependent on adults for your nourishment, care, and survival. Over time you learned how to use your body to communicate and interact with others in your environment. You even learned about manipulation. You learned that you could do certain things to get what you wanted because there was a sense of 'me' that was emerging. This 'me' is surface identity and it has a purpose too.

2. 'Me' or ego, as it has been frequently referred to, is a requirement on the earth or any world of form. You must have an operating system and this is the one you were born with. This is the one everyone was born with. It is a way of looking at the exterior world, and a way of looking at oneself in the context of the world and one's relationship to it and to all who dwell upon it. It is primarily self-centered. The most self-centered egos are probably new to the earth experience. Egos tend to mellow with experience and become less self-centered over time. If you are assigned a self-centered ego, then you will be assigned a more balanced one the next time you come. This if and only if you have learned to master it. If you haven't, your next assigned ego will be even harder to deal with.

3. Taking small steps toward mastering your assigned ego would be in the area of surface goals. Personality, temperament, skills, and interests all work with the ego, which is at the surface level. The more these things are whittled away, the more discovery there is of something else.

End Time: 10:31am

Chapter Five

Wednesday, August 25, 2021 7:06pm

1. Until this something else is discovered, life is about perceptual discovery. What can you see, hear, touch, smell, or taste? What are you allowed to do? What kind of parameters did your family set out? How secretive did you become to cover your tracks?

2. Fear, shame, and conditional love are built into the programming. Different individuals experience these elements in different ways, and differently in different societies. They are largely reactive in nature but the amount and severity can be predicted.

3. Where an individual is born and in what time period, could perfectly match lifetime objectives. What would it be like to be born to a wealthy family? What would it be like to be born into a family experiencing foster care due to imprisonment, drug addition, and mental illness? What would it be like to be born into aristocracy? These are just a few examples out of an array of possibilities. Some elements are planned but many are not. The choice factor is the biggest predictor for potential learning.

4. So many things on earth go south, so to speak, and cause some degree of suffering.

End Time: 10:31am

Chapter Six

Wednesday, August 25, 2021 7:23pm

1. Some children are taught religious principles or secular ideals of the same type. This gives them a structure to work within and one to explode out of when they are ready.

2. Relationships are important at the surface level. Discovering which ones bring you satisfaction and which ones bring you discomfort or even pain is a difficult learning process. Learning how to choose friendships that bring out the best and not the worst in an individual is not easy. Neither is the eventual discovery that relationships mirror internal thoughts about oneself, such as “I deserve to be treated badly” or “I deserve to be treated with the utmost of respect”.

3. Interests and expectations help both children and adults to develop relationships with like-minded individuals. Learning how to play the piano, express artistic or musical skills, or play a sport help the individual to pursue surface identity and relationships with like-minded peers.

4. Going to a bar for a serious night of drinking or drugging is also relationship building, but usually more on the side of destructive rather than constructive.

End Time: 7:42pm

Chapter Seven

Thursday, August 26, 2021 1:07pm

1. You have your choices here. There are an infinite number to pick from, but they all boil down in their simplicity to either a constructive or positive choice, or a destructive or negative choice. Sometimes choices are glaringly apparent and relatively easy to make, but not always. Sometimes the choice can be choosing between a rock and a hard place.

2. Choosing at the surface level strengthens character at the surface level. Strengthening can happen the easy way or the hard way. The hard way always takes longer and may be quite painful whereas the easy way is soft, gentle, and enjoyable!

3. Children develop skills in choosing constructive or destructive outcomes primarily through relationships but not always. If left unattended, children can learn not to hit a dog, touch a pan on a stove, or put their fingers into a socket.

4. It is through relationships, though, that children learn about consequences. What happens when children share toys? What happens when they refuse to share them? What happens when certain children are excluded from play groups? What happens when a child throws a tantrum at the checkout line? So many important lessons about choosing between constructive and destructive choices are either learned or delayed very early in life. This sets the stage for future lessons.

End Time: 1:26pm

Chapter Eight

Thursday, August 26, 2021 7:09pm

1. All of life is a choice between constructive or destructive options. Neutral options buffer the two. These don't boost character like the positive and negative ones do. Neutral options are things as inconsequential as "What restaurant shall we go to tonight?" or "Which shirt should I wear with these pants?" The outcomes aren't that life shattering.

2. "Should I tell my parents that a bully is demanding my lunch money, or should I steal someone else's to make up the difference?" is a bit more consequential, and consequences help teach character. Once one lesson is learned, another will appear. If this one isn't learned, it will reappear again and again until it is learned, but the circumstances will have higher stakes. Instead of 8-year-olds stealing from each other, it could be employees stealing from a company, and instead of pocket change it could be hundreds of thousands of dollars and possible jail time if caught.

3. This is an example of a moral dilemma, but really it has to do with respecting others while being in relationship with them.

End Time: 7:27pm

Chapter Nine

Thursday, August 26, 2021 7:28pm

1. “What should I do and how should I do it?” is the only real question at the surface of the human experience. Either the consequences will be constructive (positive), destructive (negative), or neutral. Babies learn quickly how to do it and how not to do it. Children, teenagers, young adults, middle-aged adults, and seniors still grapple with this ethical question until the day they die.

2. Everyone makes these choices under a wide variety of circumstances. Some may be low stakes and some may be high stakes. Some circumstances would be considered very easy for most, and some exceedingly difficult.

3. Things like being given up for adoption, living in poverty, living in an abusive environment, living with chronic and severe disease, living with a disability, living in the lap of luxury, and on and on are circumstances. They are window dressings, but the question remains the same, “What should I do and how should I do it?”

End Time: 7:41pm

Chapter Ten

Friday, August 27, 2021 1:07pm

1. “What should I do and how should I do it?” is the only real question. But due to your programming you have the option of asking this question, which is “What happens if I don’t do this?”, “What happens if I do something entirely different or if I choose to do nothing?”.

2. Children, at least most children, learn what it’s like to behave badly or to be called bad. Some like the attention and enjoy being the problem child. They are the ones who are always threatened with receiving coal in their Christmas stockings. They push buttons. And are likely to be treated harshly in the hope that will cure them of their wicked ways.

3. Children, and especially teenagers, do this to test out the waters. But only a few make it a life-long ambition to do the opposite of what they know is the right or correct thing to do.

4. Teenagers are expected to be rebellious but most manage to be constructive most of the time. They are still trying to figure out who and what they are in this world, and what their purpose is.

End Time: 1:22pm

Chapter Eleven

Friday, August 27, 2021 7:08pm

1. Children learn how to hide, how to be sneaky, and how to lie in order to hide their tracks. They learn that they can deny they had anything to do with something, so long as the evidence does not point to them. There can't be any eyewitnesses or surveillance video, and they have to avoid circumstantial evidence.

2. These skills may be helpful going into adulthood. There seem to be criminal types who never get caught. There are also ones who always get caught. The external forces are needed for those who don't feel guilt or remorse about their actions.

3. Guilt, regret, and that black cloud of shame come from within. But it affects the exterior and its purposes. Negative internal feelings can prevent or correct behavior. Not doing something because of how it will make a person feel is a very powerful negative reinforcer.

4. Feelings about how someone will look at them if they discovered certain behaviors, are part of learning about the perimeters of behavior through respect. Wanting to be liked, wanting to be valued, can be both constructive and destructive depending on circumstances.

End Time: 7:25pm

Chapter Twelve

Friday, August 27, 2021 7:28pm

1. Children are taught a concept known as likelihood or chance at an early age. They learn about what is likely to happen and what they need to do to either increase or decrease the changes of that happening.

2. Some children go out of their way to be seen as good and helpful to win affection from adults. Especially in larger families where there may be competition among siblings. Some are the family troublemakers, who want any kind of attention, be it positive or negative.

3. The different types of adults are all rooted in childhood: savers vs. spenders, kind vs. unkind, ambitious vs. unmotivated. The exterior experience is one in which relationship is king.

End Time: 7:38pm

Chapter Thirteen

Saturday, August 28, 2021 11:02am

1. What is it that motivates external purpose? What is the power behind what people do? Younger and less-experienced egos are primarily concerned with what is in it for them. There has to be a payoff.

2. A teenager may only allow his sister to borrow his car if there is some kind of a payoff or reward involved. An adult may only attend the party if he knows that a particular someone of romantic interest will be there.

3. The external is powered by internal thoughts and feelings. People shop for food because they are hungry or because they know that they will be hungry. Satisfying future need based on past experience is a powerful motivator.

4. Motivators are the why behind behavior. They can be simplistic or complex. They drive the question “What should I do and how should I do it?”

End Time: 11:14am

Chapter Fourteen

Saturday, August 28, 2021 11:15am

1. A child may think that she doesn't want to get into trouble, so this is why she will thoroughly clean her room. Another child may realize that his parents only give a cursory check to see if the task was completed, so he may feel comfortable hiding things under the bed, inside drawers, and in dark spaces of a closet.

2. Motivation is everything when it comes to behavior. People may not even realize where their own behavior comes from. Looking out at other peoples' exteriors can be very confusing, especially if you realize that there is more there than motivation.

3. Birth order, personality, astrological traits, and reinforced past behavior also have parts to play.

End Time: 11:23am

Chapter Fifteen

Saturday, August 28, 2021 2:15pm

1. You are a very complicated creature as are all humans. What is life all about anyway? What is the purpose of being a person who chooses what to do and why? You have the power to affect people you know and people you don't, either positively or negatively. You can have positive relationships or negative ones. Most have a combination of both throughout their lifetimes.

2. Who are you really? What's behind the name and the history and the skills and the weaknesses? How meaningful are likes and dislikes? Why do some live long lives and some exceedingly short? Why are so many lives touched by all types of tragedies?

3. As you can see from reading this far, you have had situations you were born into and situations you created on your own, due to your own devices. There was always a framework with a lot of room for improvisation. You could stay within the framework, or you could venture outside of it. You have had a lot of opportunity to decide what you wanted to do and how you wanted to do it. You have been willing to gamble to find out how your choices would affect others and yourself.

4. You are largely a self-made creation on the exterior, or so you have been led to believe.

End Time: 2:30pm

Chapter Sixteen

Monday, August 30, 2021 1:05pm

1. Human relationships that are made by choice either survive or fail depending on the answer I receive when I ask this question, “Do I like you?” Are the things a person does, and the things they say, pleasing on some level? Do I agree with them or at least give them a pass? Are some elements strong enough to overshadow the questionable ones?

2. Some friendships can last a lifetime. Others can’t survive the weekend and still others are known as ‘on again off again’ or even frenemies. If everyone is asking the question, “What should I do and how should I do it?” then the follow-up question is always, “What do I think of what that person is doing?” and of course “What do I think about what I’m doing?”

End Time: 1:17pm

Chapter Seventeen

Monday, August 30, 2021 7:20pm

1. Thoughts form concepts, and concepts are like boxes that thoughts can neatly fit into or be refused entry into. Are you pleased with your action or inaction, or does it fill you with regret? Do you approve of the actions of others and more importantly, why do you have to?

2. Human relationships thrive when there is harmony and there can't be harmony if there is judgement. Judgement or evaluation always lead to internal or external conflict. Someone may ask themselves, "What will people say about me if they knew that I was friends with (so and so)?"

3. Other relationship altering thoughts may be, "He had better not show his face around town anymore" or "She is clearly out of her league".

4. Thoughts stop relationships from growing and thriving. They can even stop them dead in their tracks.

End Time: 7:33pm

Chapter Eighteen

Tuesday, August 31, 2021 7:10pm

1. What someone thinks about you or what you think about someone are thoughts that impair relationships. They can also restrict freedom. If someone knows that you don't like or approve of them, this can even affect how they view themselves. In this way, judgements coming from within and from without act like toxic contagions that affect decision making.

2. Most humans are not really free to answer the question "What should I do and how should I do it?" without also taking into consideration yet another question, which is "How can I do this without anyone finding out?" or "Do I throw caution to the wind and risk my privacy by not caring what the ramifications may be?"

3. Human thought complicates all relationships in one way or another.

End Time: 7:21pm

Chapter Nineteen

Wednesday, September 1, 2021 1:09pm

1. Even thinking only idealized concepts about yourself or someone else can be limiting and restrictive. “I am wonderful” or “He is so amazing” can eliminate other truths that may be part of the picture too. Less flattering things perhaps, but true things nonetheless.

2. Human perception is so faulty. It only wants to see one thing either 100% or 100% bad, when in actuality, everyone is made up of strands of positives and negatives. The negatives must be there in order to do their job and be overcome. Everyone has these. They can be active or suppressed and they can most certainly be triggered.

End Time: 1:17pm

Chapter Twenty

Wednesday, September 1, 2021 7:45pm

1. If I see something in you that I don't like, the desire to suppress it through punishment or the withholding of affection is very strong. The fact that you could not see this unless you also saw it in yourself and refused to acknowledge it, remains unknown to most.

2. It's others who have the unwanted qualities. It's seldom me. People join forces to fight traits they see in others. It's always the other who is the problem. If they would just be a little less of that, more of this, or none of the other thing, then they would be okay because they would be reformed. They would be more like us.

3. Even if someone has a complete behavioral makeover, there are always some who will make it a point to remember the things they didn't approve of. These will always make someone a step below the eye of the beholder.

End Time: 7:56pm

Chapter Twenty-One

Thursday, September 2, 2021 9:25am

1. Religion and family expectations play a huge role when someone formulates answers to the question of "What should I do and how should I do it?" The idea that some behaviors are 'sins' and will receive the rebuke of an all-powerful God has had historical significance, and less significance over time, except in religious pockets of the population.

2. Living together as an unmarried couple or having a baby out of wedlock are two examples of how religiously based ideas change over time. These ideas are more widely accepted as the norm in today's society, as is birth control and same sex marriage.

3. The fear of the reactions of those inside a family dynamic restricts the ways that people can express themselves. A man may not feel comfortable walking down the stairs to breakfast while wearing a dress because of the potential reactions he may receive. This is an example of a conditional relationship, and virtually all relationships here are conditional. One false move and you're out of here, banished from someone's life forever.

End Time: 9:43am

Chapter Twenty-Two

Thursday, September 2, 2021 1:02pm

1. At an early age, people begin a very unhealthy and detrimental problem. They begin to collect all of the self-evaluations and evaluations of others and put them into a collection of things they don't know what to do with. Humans believe that opinions matter and if you don't take them into consideration you may suffer the consequences. You can lose relationships; people will talk about you behind your back or smear your reputation on social media.

2. All of these things are ways that people control each other, which is through fear. Conformism is the name of the game here and it is only a game. It always enters into the question of "What should I do and how should I do it?"

3. There are now layers of consequences for how you answer this question.

End Time: 1:12pm

Chapter Twenty-Three

Thursday, September 2, 2021 7:17pm

1. People quickly learn to tread carefully by understanding what the boundaries are in new, established, or potential relationships. Things like ‘being popular’ are actually job requirements with strict expectations with plentiful payoffs if that game is played well. Popular people have connections that may serve them throughout their lifetimes.

2. Dressing the ‘right’ way, listening to the ‘right’ music, wearing the ‘right’ clothes, going to the ‘right’ church, driving the ‘right’ kind of car, living in the ‘right’ neighborhood, and most importantly not having any of the ‘wrong’ things in your life that could disqualify you, are all strict requirements for admission into this exclusive club.

3. This is an example of external gratifiers which help you answer the question, “What should I do and how should I do it?”

End Time: 7:28pm

Chapter Twenty-Four

Friday, September 3, 2021 9:49am

1. Shame is when you think you have crossed the line and done something so horrible that it will cause others to not like and appreciate you. It's that bad feeling in the pit of your stomach. It's the sleepless nights. It's the pounding headaches. It's the dread of having to face someone and knowing that there is a possibility that your apology will go ignored.

2. Shame is a thought that your action or inaction deserves punishment. This is instilled in people from a very young age, and the purpose is always an attempt to teach right from wrong. But who is it that is making these judgement calls? It's people who feel like they have to invoke shame to keep members of society in line through laws and traditions. It is a tool for power and control.

End Time: 10:01am

Chapter Twenty-Five

Friday, September 3, 2021 12:59pm

1. In a nutshell, all humans are born into some type of slavery. They are taught to comply with every type of restriction, and that there will be consequences if they don't. Fear of these consequences produces compliance. It's no wonder that babies come out of the womb screaming.

2. There are totalitarian states that strictly regulate thought and behavior, but thought control is also practiced in Western societies too, just in more clandestine ways.

3. The circumstances of a child's birth and early life, combined with the taught expectations by the family and community, all factor into the question of "What should I do and how should I do it?" is answered.

End Time: 1:08pm

Chapter Twenty-Six

Friday, September 3, 2021 7:19pm

1. Life is a combination of doing those things that you feel compelled to do, things you are supposed to do, and things you want to do. All of these things make up your ideas about yourself, about who and what you are.

2. If you were to map out your life, you can easily see which parts of your life fell into which category. How well you did these things gave you a rating, as far as other people's evaluations of you were concerned. You then may have accepted and internalized these opinions and made them part of your identity. They may have been positive, negative, or both.

3. "I'm just a no-good drunk", "I can't do anything right", "I'm the one who can be trusted to get things done", and "Everything I touch turns to gold" are examples of self-talk that probably originated from other people.

4. Evaluations and opinions are nothing more than thoughts, and thoughts come from the brain. They can be important or unimportant. The brain decides for itself, based on its internal and external programming, which is which. The brain decides what is important and what isn't, but this doesn't at all mean that these things are truly important or truly not important because the brain is the great deceiver.

End Time: 7:37pm

Chapter Twenty-Seven

Saturday, September 4, 2021 10:11am

1. There were many things that you did not have a choice in. Other people made these choices for you. When you were a baby, your parents decided what you would eat and when. They decided what you would wear. They decided what toys you could have and what activities you would participate it.

2. As you grew, there were more choices you could make yourself, but they had to be within the limits set by the family, and those limits may have had cultural and religious influences.

3. Growing up Catholic meant certain things during certain eras, just as growing up as a Hindu or atheist did. In other words, there were boxes to fit into and sometimes strict definitions to adhere to. There were restrictions of all types, and you were expected to conform.

4. Children who refused to attend church services with their family would suffer the wrath of the religious parent who insisted they do so, so relationships would be challenged.

5. Action produces reaction. What you do and how you do it helps to develop your own self-concept, your own external identity.

End Time: 10:25am

Chapter Twenty-Eight

Saturday, September 4, 2021 1:10pm

1. “I am a rebel.” “I’m the one who always gets into trouble.” “I’m the one who always gets away with everything.” “I’m the one who can do no wrong.” These are statements from characters, who are names attached to bodies and brains in a specific location in a specific time period.

2. Characters have likes and dislikes, with various personalities which are delivery mechanisms and nothing more. As on TV and in the movies, characters play roles assigned to them and also roles that they assign to themselves.

3. The role of an older sister is an assigned role. The role of a wife is a chosen role, at least in most parts of the modern world. What a character majors in while in college is chosen. Certain health conditions you may have been born with or acquired along the way were assigned.

4. A character may feel forced into the only choice they had at the time, or they may feel like they should make a certain choice or they will suffer the consequences.

5. All of these elements are part of surface identity and the many plays of life that all happen simultaneously. Some plays are relatively self-contained, and some intersect with others. All are part of the larger tapestry.

End Time: 1:25pm

Chapter Twenty-Nine

Saturday, September 4, 2021 7:37pm

1. Sometimes paths end or characters purposely choose to shorten paths. Maybe you have done this. Maybe you decided to stop taking music lessons or you suddenly dropped off of the swimming team. Maybe you took a job in a far away city, cutting ties with old associates.

2. The purpose of you being here, the exterior you, is for you to grow and change, try things out, develop old skills and new ones alike. It's to deal with adversity, the snide comments, the arbitrary consequences. It's to learn to pick yourself up when knocked down. It's to find out what causes you pain, what causes you to get upset, and to come to terms with those things.

3. And once you've accomplished all of this, then you realize that this was all just the beginning. There is more to you than meets the eye.

End Time: 7:48pm

Chapter Thirty

Monday, September 6, 2021 9:31am

1. Humans are not free for a number of reasons. Feeling compelled to act or be a certain way because of fear of possible consequences is only one possible reason. The phrase 'You are your own worst enemy' is another. Inside each human is a plethora of bottled-up thoughts and feelings about other peoples' thoughts and feelings.

2. When in reactive mode, which is most of the time for most people, they sometimes react with words and behavior. But more often than not, they bottle them up and stay quiet so as not to create more reaction. These bottled-up thoughts and feelings create havoc on the human system.

3. Everything from mild aches and pains to severe illness can be attributed to unprocessed thoughts and feelings.

End Time: 9:42am

Chapter Thirty-One

Monday, September 6, 2021 1:00pm

1. Modern therapists have encouraged their patients to ‘talk it out’ and this technique has seeped into everyday life. Everywhere from schools to talk shows encourage dialog to vent pent up emotions. People want to feel justified in feeling and thinking the way they do, and in expecting retribution and payback for all of the ways they have been wronged.

2. This is a baby step in the right direction but only a baby step because it makes a great deal of assumptions. The first of which is: that which causes you pain is the fault of the words and behavior of others, because they are just reacting too. They are reacting to words and behavior from those who reacted with words and behavior. It is a never-ending cycle, and no one seems to know how not to get caught in this vicious cycle. It’s a programming glitch.

End Time: 1:13pm

Chapter Thirty-Two

Monday, September 6, 2021 4:16pm

1. Whoops. I just let out a major secret. You were programmed. Yes, you and everyone you know and don't know. Then to add insult to injury, you are reprogrammed once you exit your mother's womb with a scream. Human life as you know it, and as it has been known, is patterned responses shaped by patterned responses, shaped by patterned responses, and on and on. You only think you're choosing, but you're actually choosing from a menu of choices that were chosen for you. You were scammed.

End Time: 4:23pm

Chapter Thirty-Three

Tuesday, September 7, 2021 5:37am

1. You're far superior to a robot but the big similarity that you both share is that you're both programmed. You were programmed to elicit certain responses in relationship to others and to your environment, primarily for survival, at least at first.

2. Humans were designed to quickly evolve from animal mode to something else that I will talk about later. What we did not anticipate when you and your ancestors were at the drawing board was how much influence you would have on each other in both positive and negative ways, and how much this influence would act as a type of cement, a deterrent to progress.

End Time: 5:45am

Chapter Thirty-Four

Tuesday, September 7, 2021 7:08am

1. Peer pressure or social obligations are not entirely negative. People encourage others to do a wide range of good deeds, everything from volunteer work to simply smiling and holding a door open. It's the negative things that are the problem and without those being on the earth wouldn't be half bad.

2. People perform tremendously fantastic things for each other. They donate kidneys, they grant extravagant wishes to terminally ill children and they have paid the rent, car payments, credit card bills, and raised money for the uninsured in need of expensive surgery and hospitalization through internet fundraising.

3. Even your uncle, whom no one every said anything nice about, gave some spare cash to people in need. This is all wonderful if only it were enough.

End Time: 7:21pm

Chapter Thirty-Five

Wednesday, September 8, 2021 6:24am

1. How can an experience, or a sum of experiences and thoughts about those experiences, be your true identity? Have you ever thought about that? Is there more to you than meets the eye? Is there more to everyone and everything than meets the eye? What is it exactly that is hiding in plain sight? Who are you, in reality?

End Time: 6:28am

Chapter Thirty-Six

Wednesday, September 8, 2021 7:06pm

1. What causes your brain to have awareness? What causes your heart to beat? How did the oxygen you breathe get there?

2. There is something else in the picture, but few know what it is. This strange substance wants to be discovered, but it is usually taken for granted and ignored. Do you know what it is? You have heard of them before, surely. Does the phrase ‘heart, mind, and soul’ ring a bell?

3. Everyone knows that they have a heart and a mind but I’m here to tell you that you have a soul too. In fact, not only do you have one, but this is what you really are. You are a soul. Underneath the body, the mind, the personality, and the thoughts about everything under the sun is the soul and this is your true identity.

End Time: 7:15pm

Chapter Thirty-Seven

Thursday, September 9, 2021 6:39am

1. What is a soul? It is a microcosmically small droplet of the very same energy that creates everything in the universe. It is the intelligence behind everything. This intelligence is everything. It takes on any and all form. It is in the air, the light, the darkness. It is in the seemingly inanimate, and it animates wild and subtle movements both. It says, “I Am here”, and “I Am over here too”, and “I Am here where you think I’m not”.

2. It is called by many names. Some say it is God. Some say it is the universe. Some say it is source. It is a tiger. It is a tree. It is a butterfly and a ladybug. And it is you.

End Time: 6:51am

Chapter Thirty-Eight

Thursday, September 9, 2021 7:05pm

1. You aren't who you think you are, and neither is anyone you know. You are an intelligent form of energy and you are immortal. You do not die like your body will. You live on and you are actually quite ancient. You pre-date time itself.

2. What are you doing here? In a nutshell, you are gathering experiences and, without being consciously aware of it, you are constantly making decisions minute by minute. "What should I do and how do I do it: with love or with fear?" is a more detailed description of this question that we have talked about since the beginning of this book.

3. Let's dig deeper.

End Time: 7:13pm

Chapter Thirty-Nine

Friday, September 10, 2021 7:22am

1. You may have a vague concept of love but now let's give it its true, undiluted meaning. It is unconditional care for and appreciation. It is the gold standard.

2. There are lots of things in this world that seem kind, seem loving, but unless it's unconditional, it doesn't pass the sniff test. We say that there really isn't anything but unconditional love. This is because it is unchanging and unwavering in any storm, which is the definition of eternal. We have said that anything less than unconditional love doesn't exist, but we are well aware that it exists here in a temporary laboratory of the temporary.

3. Fear is the absence of love, and there is plenty of it on the earth. It just means that love has not arrived yet.

Chapter Forty-Two – Divine Answers

Friday, September 17, 2021 6:08am

1. If I am not a body, what am I?

Divine Answer:

You are not now, nor have you ever been, a body. You are the energy that activates your body. That's what you really are. We call this energy a soul, or an aspect of God. You are much more than a collection of thoughts and experiences, which are manifested through the vehicle of the body and mind. You are the wizard behind the curtain and you are immortal. You will never die and cannot die. You will live on, both in and out of form, as you always have.

2. How does my soul work?

Divine Answer:

Do you remember that time when you were feeling hopeful? That was due to the influence of your soul. Do you remember that time when you smiled and felt joyful for no apparent reason? That was due to the influence of your soul. Do you remember that time when you felt footloose and fancy free? That was also due to the influence of your soul. In summary, the more identified that you are with soul, the less identified you will be with thoughts, ideas, and concepts. These have a strong tendency to weigh people down and cause them to feel disconnected from their souls. Your soul only seeks growth and it does this by seeking to take more and more control over the body from the brain. This is its manifesto.

3. How can my soul and my brain work together?

Divine Answer:

The brain is a wonderful device but it has been asked to do things that it was not designed for. Your soul simply seeks to use your brain as a tool for language processing and body function regulation. You can think of it as a type of calculator. A soul's feelings will be first and foremost. The brain's thoughts and judgements will be taken with a grain of salt.

4. How will my life change when I identify more as soul?

Divine Answer:

You will stop caring about what people think about you or what your own brain thinks about you. Your identity will switch gradually. It may take many years but you will reach a point when you identify more with stillness and nothingness than you do with any singular set of ideas that formulate your identity currently. You will still like what you like, and you will still dislike what you dislike, but they won't be part of your identity. They will just be interesting markers along the way of your life's journey.

5. Will I be more peaceful and happier if I identify more as a soul?

Divine Answer:

In a word, yes. Souls are peaceful. They are happy. Their peacefulness and happiness do not depend on certain things happening and/or certain other things not happening. They are always peaceful and happy. Humans on the other hand, are peaceful and happy if certain conditions are met first. So, as a summary, souls do not depend on any external sets of circumstances to be peaceful and happy. They are fine if their circumstance is unemployment and some degree of poverty. The same cannot be said of the average brain-dominated human.

6. What do souls know that I don't know?

Divine Answer:

The 'you' that 'you' think you are is limited to experiences and desires that come from your brain. They are conditioned responses with a limited and limiting set of conditions. 'You' as soul, on the other hand, is divine intelligent energy that knows everything. It is connected to the Mind of God. The process of learning to access soul, and also use the brain strategically and purposefully, will allow the 'you' you thought you were to expand to a 'you' that is more expansive and unlimited.

7. Are souls connected to each other?

Divine Answer:

The short answer is yes. All souls are connected to one another. The OneSelf or source energy has an elasticity that allows it to express in an infinite number of ways. It can be 'you' or 'him' or 'her' or 'it', but it will never completely separate these. The 'you', 'him', 'her', and 'it' will never truly be these separate forms. They are really being animated or played by one energy, which is God.

8. Are souls connected to God?

Divine Answer:

Each soul is infinitesimally smaller than the totality of God, as each one has a specific mission. Yet each soul cannot be separated from all that is God, because all is God. God not only has souls animating form, but God is also in inanimate form. God energy is either active or dormant. What is active today may be dormant tomorrow, and what is dormant today may be active tomorrow. Everything you see and experience is part of God, including you.

9. Is my soul connected to God?

Divine Answer:

We've already answered this but we can go in deeper here. There are two of you. One is called the 'small self' or the ego-based 'me, myself, and I' identity. This is the one you're born with. The other, your true self, is your soul. You don't really have a soul as you are one. You as soul are a micro-droplet of God's energy. The soul's mission is to take over the egoic operating system and disempower it. The soul becomes much stronger in the process. In a sense 'me' becomes a more of a benevolent 'we'.

10. What power does my soul have that I don't know about?

Divine Answer:

The short answer is that the soul's power is the same as God's power. The long answer can't be answered adequately, as part of the soul's mission is to discover its own power in the context of being human, and in being in human situations. God's power is love, a love so true and so brilliant that it is exceedingly rare here. Exercising it will produce astonishing results wherever and however it is manifested.

11. Why am I here?

Divine Answer:

You are here to transform from a fear-based being to a love-based being. You can have all the time you need to make this happen. The more people who make the shift, the more conditions on the earth will transform. The time is now.

12. What happens when we die?

Divine Answer:

You have never and will never die. You are timeless and immortal. The same cannot be said of the body or the character. They are taken out of commission, replaced by new bodies and new characters, while you, the true you, rejoins the fold in the spirit realm, where souls reign supreme and only love is expressed.

13. Is there a heaven?

Divine Answer:

Heaven is a state of mind, not a place. There are many heavenly places where the occupants do not have a state of mind that matches the environment. This is proof that being in a heavenly environment doesn't necessarily mean that someone is in 'heaven' per se. Anyone can be in heaven at any time, no matter what may be happening around them. You can be in heaven while gunshots are happening around you. It may be hard to do, but it's possible.

14. Is there a hell?

Divine Answer:

Hell is a state of mind too. Like heavenly places, there are many hellish places where those who dwell there have a heavenly state of mind. When one leaves their body behind, the state of mind that existed while still embodied is the state of mind that exists after disembodiment. God doesn't punish itself. And all are aspects of the Divine. But aspects of the Divine can and do punish themselves through guilt. Like on earth, it takes time to release pent up negativity once free of the body and ego.

15. Is there any hope?

Divine Answer:

Hope springs eternal. There is always hope that things will get better if they aren't, and that things will stay positive if they already are. There is hope in the midst of a flood, fire, or tornado. There is hope when a wallet is empty and credit cards are overcharged. There is hope in the midst of death and disease. Hope is there when nothing else is.

16. Why has my life been so hard?

Divine Answer:

Things have seemed hard because you often felt all alone fending for yourself, often against all odds. Maybe you have been a member of a family or an organization. Maybe they supported you at times and maybe they didn't. Even if there were thousands of people screaming and shouting their approval for whatever it was that you were doing, it still seemed like it was you who would succeed or fall short. Isn't this true? It's time that you know that even though it doesn't seem true or even possible, it's never been true that you were ever alone. It's quite impossible. You can't be alone because you are connected to absolutely everyone and everything.

17. Why do I fall in and out of love?

Divine Answer:

You fall in and out of infatuation. You fall in and out of lust. It isn't love that you speak of. Human love falls far short of what is truly love. Love always wants to extend itself and, once extended, love cannot be taken back, no matter what someone may or may not do tomorrow. What happens next cannot affect love. Anything less than love is fear, and fear has no power over love. Fear only calls for love. Love turns on the lights and the darkness is no more.

18. What's the purpose of me being here?

    Divine Answer:

    There is great purpose underneath all of the myriad of purposes. It isn't the destination. It's the journey. It isn't really about all of the hard work that goes into earning a degree. It's about the relationships you develop along the way and the new ones the degree will enable you to make later on. It's not about the successful marriage or the unsuccessful one. It's not about all of the problems along the way. It's about what you learn from encountering them. It's all designed to bring about questioning, questioning of everything on the surface. This questioning will eventually result in getting to the true you, the gooey center of a chocolate-filled lollipop.

19. Can life here ever be any different than it is now?

    Divine Answer:

    Humans are still in survival mode, as comfortably and conveniently as possible. The reliance on fossil fuels for everything from pollution-making gasoline for cars to jobs in the fast-paced consumer throwaway culture has set the stage here. Human nature itself is unchanged and affects life in a myriad of ways. The belief that there isn't enough controls the dialog, and the belief that some are deserving and some are not cements it into place. Can beliefs change? They must. Otherwise there will not be a habitable host for humanity to grow on, nor will humanity be able to support its host in its own growth.

20. What role does religion play in life?

    Divine Answer:

    It largely answers questions by not answering questions truthfully because the answers are based in misunderstandings and superstition. In other words, the answers are wrong because they were made up, invented by those who wanted to be helpful and by those who wanted to control through fear. Sometimes religion makes churchgoers feel good for a period of time. It reflects their longing for relationship with something bigger than themselves. It has discouraged behavior and filled people with guilt and regret. In some parts of the world, it isn't truly practiced. It's just a guise for what really goes on. In other parts of the world, it is more like a brutal police force where drastic action can befall anyone who crosses the deeply ingrained lines. In the big scheme of things, religion has had a mixed bag of effects on the human experience.

21. Will I be punished for all of the bad things I've done?

    Divine Answer:

    They will be reviewed and brought to your attention at the time of passing if you did not adequately address them during your lifetime. If you caused harm to yourself or to others, then you weren't in touch with and listening to your soul. You were listening to the false master, the brain. Reviewing this helps souls to know where to focus next time. Remember, you are a soul and not a body/brain, so if the body/brain did something bad or evil, that doesn't reflect negatively on the soul who wasn't listened to in that particular instance. The soul just takes note and plans growth in that area with the next body/brain they are assigned.

22. What is heaven like?

    Divine Answer:

If heaven is a state of mind, then it can be defined as free of any type of concern or worry at the shallow end of the pool to complete bliss at the deep end. If the question refers to the afterlife, once free of the body the soul tends to identify as the last character played, although their memories of all other lifetimes will be fully restored. Having access to this much information isn't difficult at all for a soul, although humans wouldn't be able to function properly with unlimited access. The non-physical world or realm is just as varied and wonderous as life on earth is. Most souls are busy creating in one fashion or another, and many others are backstage players in all of the earth's many dramas. The big difference is with identity. Disembodied souls are fully aware of their true identity and all of the big picture ideas behind the earth project.

23. Are there animals in heaven?

Divine Answer:

Those who formed close relationships with humans will recreate an astral image in order to continue their relationships with them. Animals who lived in the wild also seek out relationships in the spirit realm. They are free of their inborn nature, so frightening animals like alligators or gorillas are completely tame and docile here.

24. Does the religion a person practices matter in the end?

Divine Answer:

It may or may not have helped someone make decisions or feel bad if they didn't listen to the dictates of the religion during a lifetime, but religion is largely a man-made concept, so it doesn't have much value here. What matters is how much love you give. In fact this is the only thing that matters.

25. Are there other environments like the earth somewhere else?

Divine Answer:

Yes. How high do numbers go? There are countless environments with humanoid types of life, each one with slight to major differences. There are environments that are strictly experimental types of laboratories. Our newest ones involve talking animals with problem solving capabilities. They are creating civilizations like no other. If you can think it, know that is a reality somewhere.

26. What if I don't believe in God?

Divine Answer:

The authoritarian father figure out in the sky somewhere does not exist. It was created by mankind based on their very limited understanding. If you don't believe in this idea of God, then that's a good thing. It's less baggage to carry around with you as you explore new ideas of God and of creation, ones that involve you.

27. There is no way a God could have created a place as bad as this. Right?

Divine Answer:

The negative aspects of life on earth were created as possibilities. They were on the menu. As with all creative factors, sometimes the end result is surprising. Sometimes it isn't at all what was expected. Free choice factors in and unfortunately, humans have pushed the 'difficult' button more often than the 'easy' button.

28. Why does God allow pain and suffering?

Divine Answer:

Pain and suffering were meant as deterrents, not hobbies and specializations. They are signposts that suggest that you are off-road. The body/brain is not listening and has gone off in a different direction than prescribed by the soul. They were never meant as a way of life.

29. Why do bad people often get away with things?

Divine Answer:

Everyone is accountable for every thought, word, and action. It's all recorded. Other humans may not hold someone accountable, but accountability and responsibility are built into the soul's memory. These are all reviewed throughout a lifetime and at the end of one. Souls see how characters have gotten away from them, and they see when they listened and to what degree.

30. Does compassion and understanding have a role?

Divine Answer:

The answer is a resounding yes. Compassion and understanding are the fruits of love and love is all that matters. When compassion and understanding are extended to others then this is a sign that they already exist within and are ready to be applied to the one who gives these gifts in equal measure. Only when someone has compassion and understanding for themselves can these be extended to others. Compassion and understanding lead to peace.

31. How have my choices been influenced by outside factors?

Divine Answer:

As hard as they may try, no one truly has any power over the true you. They can torture and imprison your body, but they can't affect you at the mind level unless you buy into their ideas. There are things that you have bought into and things you have rejected. There may have been mild to severe consequences for each, but the point is that only you can be the gatekeeper to your own mind and your soul's own knowing.

32. What role to intent play in peoples' lives?

Divine Answer:

Some things and events seem intentional, some seem random, but everything has been ordered. Everything has been summoned into being, even though the customer doesn't remember ordering the package that arrived this morning. Some packages were ordered by someone at one address, and were delivered to everyone in an entire neighborhood or even a whole town. Intent by one often affects the many in both positive and negative ways. If this happens there are always embedded lessons, for the soul to help the character work through.

33. Is everything random and impersonal?

Divine Answer:

Although there are neutral things in life, the experience of life is filled with purpose and meaning. No one is a victim of anything. They are the intended recipients for a magical gift that awaits when their level of understanding unfolds. Life is benevolent and is intended to provide opportunities for souls to open and show their wide array of patterns and colors.

34. What are my life lessons?

Divine Answer:

They are situations and relationships that have the potential to teach love. If successful, they won't have to be repeated. If unsuccessful, they will be repeated over and over again until mastered. No two people have the same lessons delivered through the same mechanisms. The question in all lessons is always the same, which is, can you love even this? Can you love when it is easy to do so? Can you love when it is difficult to do so?

35. How do I know if I have achieved my life lessons?

Divine Answer:

If you have no one left to blame and everyone you have blamed in the past has been forgiven, then this is a good sign. The cake has been baked. If you have no regrets, no 'would have, should have, or could haves' then you have icing to spread across the cake. This cake symbolizes no negative thoughts, and no negative thoughts means that you are free to respond to life in the here and now with all lessons learned.

36. What happens if I fail to achieve particular lessons?

Divine Answer:

They wait until a soul is ready to not only deal with them on the surface level but do so successfully with acceptance and love. Those difficult situations that often involve children and young adults are leftover lessons that reappear for successful resolution. This can present as cancer in a young child, the loss of a child, or a life-altering and disfiguring accident. The question is always, 'Can you love even this?' Once goals are mastered, you, as a soul, are ready for the next part of your never-ending journey.

37. Is there any hope?

Divine Answer:

We've asked this question twice, but now the answer is different. Nothing here is as it seems perceptually. There is something else going on, something deeper and much more meaningful. This is very much an artificial environment. It has been called illusionary or an illusion, because what seems so on the surface is just a guise, a costume worn to a Halloween party. The truth has been underneath the surface but hidden from view all of these years. God is here and you are part of God. This is the truth of your being.

Chapter Forty-Three – Psalms for the Dying

Monday, November 1, 2021 4:30am

1. Invest in that which is without the ability to decay but has the foresight for a long-term return. This is your own essence. Let the rest fall away while you spend your time and energy in developing and getting to know your own true Self.

2. Begin again when you put your feet on the floor each morning. Refuse to bring anything from any day past into your new beginning because this is where your freedom lies. Wave the white flag of surrender to your worries and let them all go. They have no power over you unless you willingly engage. Kiss them goodbye and bid them farewell. Your day will be much lighter and more joyful without them.

3. To develop trust in your relationship with the spiritual world is to finally admit that this is where you belong. Your home is not what you see but what you feel and what you know. You are an essence having endless experiences and sensations that all point the way home.

4. To begin again is to be free from the past, as well as our ideas about it. To begin again means if you are alone in a room, or if others are present, no one else is there. There are no shadow figures, no one with attached negative meaning. Each moment offers us the chance to be free and to begin again. We sing our song and it's a song about the freedom from monsters, both real and imagined.

5. Sing your song in the face of adversity. Sing your song of faith in an unseen power. There is more going on here than meets the eye. When your thoughts are still, the light can be seen and felt. This light is the real you.

6. An umbrella of hope is available to all who endure stormy times. No matter what the world may throw at you, this umbrella provides protection from the world's blows. It is simply the realization that the Divine spirit endures to see many other days. It remains unscathed.

7. Look around. What do I see? Is everything disjointed and separate? Does it have to be that way? Is there another way to see myself and the world? Is there hidden meaning in a meaningless existence of rush hour traffic and 9-5 work hours? Does anyone know or more importantly do I know? Is there part of myself that I don't know about?

8. The ability and opportunity to begin again, no matter the consequences of the problematic action, should be afforded every single member of a society without question. When someone falls, he or she should be helped back up again.

9. Consequences of problematic behavior should support new and different choices in the future. They should involve relationship building with mentors and should not include blame and shame. Nor fines so high that they are unlikely to be paid, or time in a jail cell where only the damned and rejected live. Everything, every single act, must be viewed through the lens of love which always knows when it is being summoned.

10. Sing your song of freedom, freedom from yourself, because the bars and locks came from your own mind. No one else really has any power over you. It's you who judges yourself or at the very least, buys into the judgements cast by others. Sing your song of freedom because no one else truly can. You must be your own savior.

11. Today is temporary and yet it is all there really is. The past is only a memory and the future is not set in stone. It is the mind that shifts from the past to the future, skipping the present time, the now, in its entirety. May we learn to reprogram the mind to only focus on now and find our freedom from the tyranny of the past and future focus.

12. Enjoy what life has brought you even if it was the wrong size, color, or style. Find the good in everything, even the bitter coffee and spoiled milk. Maybe the broken dishwasher came to help you find joy in handwashing the dishes. Whatever it is, find peace with its hidden message.

13. Dignity and grace speak louder than words. Let them lead you during times when your tongue wants to be unleashed. Someone may in fact have earned a tongue lashing but it will be you who pays the price. Let peace prevail.

14. Who are you? Are you merely a person with a name, a past, an occupation, likes, dislikes, hopes, and desires? Is that all you are? Are you sure? Is it possible that there is more to you than you know? Is it possible that this aspect of you that you may not be very familiar with, is connected to other aspects, even all aspects? Are you willing to explore this? When you're ready, it will support you in this exploration.

15. Turn off your brain and explore your other mind, the Christ Mind or the Mind of God. This Mind is shared with all of the many parts of God, and you are one of these. You are a thought of God that lives within the Mind of God. You are not a body, but you are embodied.

16. This is why you're here. This is what you came for. You came to discover the truth about your own identity. You came to learn how to sing your songs in the way that only you can. The notes, the inflections, are unique to you because you are a one-of-a-kind musician in a band of one-of-a-kind musicians.

17. Rejoice because there really isn't any reason not to. Unwanted and unexpected things happen here. Feel your feelings and check your thoughts at the door. If you can do this, then the unwanted and unexpected served their purpose.

18. When you observe others doing or saying certain things, always try to remember when you experienced that, when you were so mad that you did the same thing or could have. This will prevent you from demonizing someone or thinking of them as less than. No one is less than. Where we go one, we go all.

19. Use the mirror analogy when looking at another. What does what you see tell you about yourself? How are you like that? If you say that you aren't like your brother or sister, was there a time in the past when you were? If the answer is still 'no', are you being honest with yourself?

20. Invest in education, specifically education for the soul. Either read or be read to but drink it all up. Consume all of the printed and virtual resources that are available to consume. Then, when you are completely full, start to live it. Let this spiritual information come to life through you. Be the living and moving truth.

21. Trust that there is much that you don't know and that it will make itself known to you at the right time. Don't be arrogant in your knowing but rather, be gracious in your willingness to come to know.

22. Believe it when I say that you are not a body and a list of attributes, but rather, that which animates the body and its list of attributes. You are not a machine, and the human body is nothing more than a computer that builds and programs computers.

23. Question everything you know and have been taught. Little of it is true. Turn off the world and listen to your heart. Let it lead you into a deep knowing about your true Self and discover why you came here. What is your true purpose in life?

24. Let your brain's ideas fade away and let your heart's knowing replace them as your moment-to-moment experience of Now, the only time there is.

25. Die to the past and live in the present. Live without worry about the future or regret about the past. Save yourself from yourself.

Chapter Forty-Four – Definitions

Tuesday, November 16, 2021 4:32am

1. Apostate:
   Living in a way that is contrary to divine energy, by design.

2. Suffering:
   The process by which an apostate discovers their divine energy and learns to choose it over its own thought process.

3. Brilliance:
   1. The gold mine at the end of a path of suffering by an apostate.
   2. Transformation of an apostate into Christ, an aspect of God.

4. Spark:
   Intuitive insight.

5. Divine Spirit:
   The immortal spark of love and sanity.

6. Re-Wiring:
   When the old system is replaced by a new one that will never need upgrading.

7. Love:
   Non-judgmental care, consideration, and support for oneself and for all living creatures and things.

8. Essence:
   The pure qualities of a soul that can be strengthened but never changed or altered.

9. Fear:
   1. The absence of love.
   2. The call for love.
   3. A misunderstanding.

10. Life Lessons:
    All things that have the potential to bring you closer to the realization of your soul identity.

11. Rewind:
    The process of letting go of the illusion of false identity and control, until only the core essence of soul is left.

12. Born Again:
    1. A person is born again when their essence is the primary and dominant decision maker.
    2. When God has consumed the tools and lessons, the result is Christ, who is in a constant state of being born again and in renewal.

Chapter Forty-Five – Narratives

Monday, November 22, 2021 7:09pm

1. Apostate

   It is by design that all souls experience the apostate stage. They experience the purely human, the good and the bad polarity they were born into, and in doing so the apostate completely misses the point. They have no idea what a soul is and that it is playing a game of hide and seek. They only know what they are taught or directly experience themselves. All societies directly support the apostate without knowing that this is what they are doing. It is a case of the blind leading the blind. Even the devoutly religious experience life as an apostate, while the soul waits. It speaks from time to time. Sometimes it is listened to and many times it is not. Yet it waits. It activates the apostate, the soul-blind human, and in doing so, it learns about situations, relationships, and personalities. It learns how to speak through the heart and countereffect the harsh judgements of the apostate's brain.

2. Suffering

   If suffering is defined as all times when someone is not ecstatically exuberant and no type of chemical compound is in the mix, then the human life is a life of suffering, a life of regret, pride in small accomplishments, and a life of hope that tomorrow will be better than today. Suffering ranges from mild to severe and prolonged. It was conceptually designed as a deterrent to encourage movement away from the very thinking that produces suffering in the first place. But since it is so strongly encouraged and supported here, it is quite difficult to move away from.

   This said, there is a cure for suffering. It is mindlessness and presence in the present moment, separate from nothing and connected to the All of everything. This is the only sustainable way to live on the earth while producing the fruits of abundance (enough to share), good health, and perfect joy.

3. Brilliance

   Brilliance refers to the Christ Mind, the shared mind among all aspects of the One Self. Nothing is truly brilliant that emanates from the human brain, when compared with those extensions that originate from the Mind of God.

   God's brilliance always concerns itself with the benefit of all, whereas the human brain is primarily concerned for its own welfare and standing. As your identity begins to shift from human to divine, your brilliance will reflect the Source from which you came.

4. Spark

   What is this 'spark' that I speak of? It is the dominant action of a soul. It is very much like what happens with a match or a lighter. It takes several attempts sometimes, before a flame is produced. A soul seeks ignition so that it can grow into a flame. Oftentimes the flame is reduced to embers and more sparks are needed to produce a single flame and sometimes a raging fire. This is how souls consume their assigned ego, by shedding light on it.

5. Divine Spirit

   Life is what it is because of what animates what is seen, not just what is seen. The principle is the same for everything, including you. You are not just a pretty face. You are that which makes the pretty face smile, frown, or look confused. You give life to the pretty face. You are the great animator. You are the puppet master, who is connected to all other puppet masters as the one great, powerful, and United Divine Spirit.

6. Re-Wiring

   The process from thinking you are a face, a body, a collection of thoughts and experiences, to knowing that you are part of the great animator, is a complete re-wiring job. It's like when a very old house has to have all of the cloth-covered wires replaced with new, state-of-the-art ones that meet code. This is what is transpiring now with you, the reader of these words.

7. Love

   Love saves the day. Love is there when the window is broken and shattered. Love excuses. Love overlooks. Love sees past the words, behavior, and difficult situations. Love only sees what is true. Its blessing helps love to blossom, so that the new flowers can in turn help love to blossom elsewhere.

8. Essence

   Say nothing. Let your stillness speak volumes. Let the unspoken essence of your soul sing your song and, when you're ready, use your words to sing the chorus. Together, make a number one smash hit single.

9. Fear

   Fear is a misunderstanding, a mis-perception, a reaction, and not a response. Fear is blind to the presence of love. When it speaks, it spreads its darkness and blocks out the ever-present light. When it thins, the light can shine through once again.

10. Life Lessons

    Every missed appointment, every job interview, every relationship, every situation, always asks the same question, which is "What can love do here?" When any trace of fear reacts and there isn't a loving response, the lesson will reappear, sometimes sooner and sometimes later, but it will reappear. This time, the consequences will be bigger if fear is chosen, but the rewards will be as well, if love is listened to and heeded.

11. Rewind

    With each and every learned lesson, the character softens and takes one step back. One at a time, the backward steps toward softness, and away from harshness, rewind back to soul, an immortal aspect of God. After complete rewind, the soul is bigger and stronger having had this journey to move towards love and away from fear.

12. Born Again

    To be rewound back to God is to be born again. God with two arms, two legs, and a mind that only thinks in concert with itself, is Christ, God in man. This is the true and accurate meaning of born again.

Chapter Forty-Six – Testimonials: Words of Wisdom from the Source Field

Monday, December 6, 2021 6:10am

1. When I was in form, playing a character, I didn't know what was really going on here, and no one I knew did either. My advice is to be open to the idea that there are many things you don't know about or understand. Be open to the idea that there is something else happening.

2. Be careful what you wish for. It just might come true and then what will you do, sweet ones? Keep your intentions, hopes, and desires pure and this will protect you from the calamity of all types.

3. Turn off the TV and all of your devices. Invest your time in discovering your true identity and how to live from that place. It will prove to be your very best decision.

4. Those who seek power and control over others are operating from fear and are not to be believed. Question them and dare to live life on your own terms.

5. Be honest in all things, even if it will hurt someone's feelings. The honest road will save you much hardship.

6. Your ideas and thoughts are just that, ideas and thoughts. They have no power and are not to be believed. The human brain is the great liar.

7. Enjoy whatever life puts on your plate, even if it is not to your liking. Find something about it that is funny or weird and then let it go elsewhere. Don't obsess over it and don't keep it in your thoughts after it has left. This will lessen the impact and power of the unwelcome.

8. Say you're sorry and mean it. You may not be forgiven by the one you crossed, but it is your own forgiveness that you truly need. You need to forgive yourself.

9. If you ever feel compelled to do something against your own personal beliefs, know that bitterness awaits if you do it and peace awaits if you don't.

10. If you aren't already, become comfortable being by yourself and when you're comfortable being by yourself, become comfortable with that which is below thought. This is the true you.

Chapter Forty-Seven – The Hows and the Whys

Friday, December 10, 2021 3:08am

1. How does the wind carry elements in the air that support life? Why would life systems require this support system unless they were both part of the same thing?

2. How does a nutrient-rich soil support root systems of most plants, whereas desert sand does not? Why is this relationship between the roots and the soil important in the big scheme of things?

3. How does the warmth of the sun promote growth of plants? Why is this relationship critical to growth?

4. How can such simple creatures like bees and ants live such complex and orderly lives? Why was such mystery and intelligence programmed into their operating system?

5. How did a dog get its bark? Why do dogs have such close relationships with humans?

6. Oil is used to make plastics and sand is used to make glass. How can creation anticipate its own needs? Why is the earth so rich in raw materials?

7. Since everything comes from the earth in one form or another, how do these products form relationship with the human world? Why has this relationship been of the user/usee variety?

8. When something is eaten, it becomes that which ate it. How does the relationship between the eater and the eaten create something new, something stronger? Why is the animal kingdom structured in a hierarchical manner?

9. How can the ability of a mouse to escape from the cat's claws strengthen the cat? Why is the predator/prey game part of creation?

10. How does darkness (nighttime) strengthen the light (daytime)? Why is the continuum of darkness to light an example of wholeness when viewed in its entirety?

11. In terms of human behavior, how is darkness related to light? Why does darkness exist at all?

12. How do human thoughts manifest? Why are they there?

13. How can thoughts be collected to form a cohesive, constructive idea? Why are random, uncontrolled thoughts potentially destructive in nature?

14. How can a chemical compound extend life on the one hand and destroy it on the other? Why does life include death?

15. How do personal choices affect the web of life? Why does one person's choice have the power to support or destroy another's?

16. How do random coincidences affect outcomes? Why does destiny present itself as an unlikely surprise?

17. How does a person's life unfold? Why does it seem that power sometimes lies in everyone else's hands?

18. How is the ending like a beginning? Why does life seem to stop only to start again?

19. How does the sinister man sleep at night? And why does he wake up in the morning with a heart as cold as stone?

20. How can a man tell lies about his brother? And why are there those who relish the opportunity to listen to them?

21. How do 'twists of fate' play out? And why would a soul summon it in the first place?

22. How can someone forgive the unforgivable and why would they?

23. How do souls find one another? Why do souls assist one another on their journeys?

24. Do souls ever make mistakes? Why would this question ever be seriously contemplated?

25. How does life make its intentions known? Why does life say no?

26. What is the true meaning of a birth? Why are the endless possibilities that are there in potential, really just vehicles for the one true possibility, the marriage of the divine soul to the form?

27. How does a person represent what is inside them? Why has the life force itself been so obscure?

28. How can a single fertilized egg house the blueprints for a physical life? Why has such detail been part of life here?

29. How is it when someone looks at their own family history, that they learned the most from the one with whom they had the most contentious relationship? Why does character building often happen under the most difficult of situations?

30. How can someone look back on the events of their own life and edit something out? Why are the bad things, the painful things, not valued? How can a lifetime not include the unwanted?

31. How can divorce strengthen a family? Why do humans feel obligated to endure?

32. How does a bird get its song? Why does a bird's voice permeate the landscape? What is it trying to say to humans?

33. How do simple or complicated machines reflect the order that is God? Why do computers exist at all?

34. How can a man harm another man, woman, or child? Why does God allow brutality?

35. How can organisms live within the greatest organism, which is Gaia? Why has the human part of this equation been so problematic?

36. How can water, air, and sunlight flow to and within all of creation, and yet all of creation does not support these essential nutrients? Why is the relationship so one-sided?

37. How can a thief take without giving? Why do those who steal not have whole relationships with those they steal from?

38. Can a clock tell someone anything other than the time? Why does the clock run out, but the work of building and functioning with relationship carry on?

39. How can food sustain those whom Gaia is in relationship with? Why is this relationship so fragile?

40. How can human biology more accurately reflect that which fuels it? Why has fear imposed such a harsh face on human form?

Chapter Forty-Eight – Points of Meditative Focus

Saturday, December 18, 2021 6:24am

1. Who am I?
2. What am I?
3. Why am I here?
4. I am not a body.
5. I am not my thoughts.
6. I am not my experiences.
7. I am not other peoples' evaluations of me.
8. I am not the bad things I have done.
9. I am not my virtues.
10. I am not what people don't like about me.
11. I am the sum of all my parts.
12. I am more than I know.
13. I am more than anyone knows.
14. I am everything and nothing in particular.
15. I am the wind, the sun, and the moon.
16. There is nothing that I am not.
17. I am hiding inside this person I'm pretending to be.
18. Nothing else matters except discovering who I am in truth.
19. I am the beginning, the middle, and the end.
20. I am the power that fuels everything.
21. All souls create the world experience for their own development and joy.
22. Bad things that happen are part of the creative process.
23. Without the lows, there wouldn't be the highs.
24. I am a soul, an aspect of God.
25. I am all that I need to be.

26. Would the world be the same without me in it?

27. What can I do to lighten someone else's load?

28. When can I get clarity and understanding?

29. When will the world-scape finally make sense to me?

30. Why have I loved others who did not love me back?

31. Can I love someone and not like them at the same time?

32. If I forgive someone, won't they be getting away with it?

33. Where do I fit in, in the big scheme of things?

34. Can I ever really be happy?

35. Can money and material possessions bring me joy?

36. Will the sum of all of my parts ever be cohesive and at peace?

37. How can my own life experience reflect the real me in a bigger and more grandiose way?

38. Is there anyone else alive now, or who has ever been alive, who has experienced the same things that I have in the same ways?

39. What has what I have learned in this lifetime taught me about what is ultimately true?

40. Can I ever be free here and live a life of truth and freedom, instead of lies and enslavement?

Chapter Forty-Nine - Epilogue

Thursday, December 23, 2021 5:05am

1. Here we are just shy of two years later, at the end of our gargantuan project and at the beginning of it. 'The Ending is the Beginning' is primarily for those who are just beginning their paths to wholeness, which is to obtain the secret knowledge of their own identities.

2. After reading this epilogue, it is our intention that new initiates will keep going into Book One of 'A Journey into the Unknown' and discover more about their own souls and their inter-relatedness, forming the totality of God.

3. This book series represents the totality of life, a never-ending circle. It is the third in a trilogy of books that started in 1976 with the publication of 'A Course in Miracles' and continued with the publication of 'A Course of Love.' It is a continuation of those books, a real-life clarification and application of misunderstood spiritual principles.

4. Most importantly, it is part of a trilogy of concepts. 'A Course in Miracles' is about the concept of Christ Awareness. 'A Course of Love' is about the concept of Christ Consciousness. And 'A Journey into the Unknown' is about the concept of full Christ Manifestation in the three-dimensional world of form.

5. 'A Journey into the Unknown' is about the exploration of the relationship between the seen and the unseen worlds, between the reader and souls who have continued their journeys beyond the physical plane. It is about living the truth of one's identity as aspect of God, full time.

6. This is a living body of work with its own group of pioneers. It has been presented and published in an electronic form to reflect the current times. It has been offered freely, although there has been a great deal of work involved. We would like to recognize Christina for her willingness 'to go there', to borrow a modern phrase, in presenting this provocative material in such an alluring manner.

7. Lastly, we want to acknowledge Rick. He's more than a scribe. He responded to love with love and created these books by writing down the words he hears, so they can be shared and lived. Both Rick's and Christina's willingness to respond helped to create 'A Journey into the Unknown'. The reader's/experiencer's willingness to live the concepts completes the never-ending circle.

8. 'A Journey into the Unknown' is complete in a way, but will never really be complete because individual journeys of souls will never be complete. There is never an end point in a soul's journey.

9. I would like to acknowledge all of the many souls involved in this project. Much was composed and presented by Jesus, Mother Mary, and St. Germain. My own involvement came later on as I Am the author of 'The End is the Beginning'.

10. Now that the final word is being written, ‘A Journey into the Unknown’ is ushering in a brand new age, the Second Coming of Christ, not in one but in the many.

11. Let it Be.
Rami
